WALL PAPER!

We have as fine a stock of wall paper as can be found in this county. The designs are all this spring's styles and the prices we are offering these handsome prints at are wonderfully low. We are determined to dispose of this stock.

CARPETS AND MATTINGS.

It is time to replace that old carpet of yours with a new one Our line of carpets is the most handsome we have ever had and are admired by all who have seen them. We have held the carpet trade of this county for a number of years and our low prices and fair treatment have been steadily making this store the most popular.

We also have a very pretty line of mattings.

LACE CURTAINS.

Although the spring season has been somewhat late this year, our sale of curtains has been large. We have some excellent values yet in stock. All wishing good curtains at a low price should call.

Will be a Handsome Edifice.

Contractor J. W. Kriner is pushing work on the new stone Emmanuel Episcopalian Church, corner of Fourth and Walnut streets, and judging from the plans of the structure, kindly shown us by the Rector, Rev. J. M. Robertson, the Episcopalian congregation will be comfortably located and our town greatly benefitted by the addition of a valuable property. The last issue of the Parish News, edited by the Rector, has the following to say in relation to the church:

"The contract for building the new church was given to Mr. J. W. Kriner, June 3rd. In a few days the work of moving the old church was commenced and by July 2d was on its new site at the rear of the lot, blocked up securely and ready for use for the morning service July 7th. It now rests upon a substantial stone wall. Meanwhile, the work of excavating for the foundations of the new church was in progress, and at this writing the concrete footings under the tower and under the walls of the church, have for a distance back of forty feet, have been laid, and a portion of the stone foundations built. As soon as the foundation is ready, the stones for the face work will be sent from Medina, N. Y., and a force of men to set them.

The building is to be under roof by Dec. 1st, and the contract completed in a year from the commencement of the work.

The plan of the new church is an admirable one in itself, and is moreover that which is necessitated by the size and shape of the lot. The main part is long and narrow, the total length, including tower, will be 111 feet; the width of the nave is 29 feet, 8 inches, exclusive of the buttresses; the chancel 25 feet; the wing for the choir room and sacristy will be 36 feet long and will make the width of the building 45 feet, 4 inches.

The tower will be 21 feet wide and 16 feet deep, and its height above the floor line, 47 feet. There is to be but one aisle the length of the nave; this will be tiled. There will be 230 sittings. A spacious and deep chancel will be the most important feature of the church."

Cocaine Fiend.

On June 8th, a chap appeared in Emporium and registered at the City, Hotel under the name of "H. S. Ford of Smethport," claiming to be a crack painter. The same day he called at Dodson's drug store and purchased a quantity of cocaine. He continued to hang around town until last Thursday, when in one of his frantic spells watched an opportunity and dodged into the back door of Taggart's drug store and swiped about $6.00 worth of cocaine and morphine. The unfortunate individual made haste to leave town, taking the road to Sizerville. A warrant was issued for his arrest, but will no doubt be allowed to sleep in the officer's pocket as long as the poor fellow gives this place the go-bye. We are informed he was in the habit of stealing from several stores anything he could get his hands unto, converting the same into money with which to buy the drug.

Leg Amputated.

Last April Elmer McManus, of Shippen, a lad 16 years of age, while working on a log job met with an accident, whereby his right leg was severely injured. During all these months he has suffered great pain and every effort has been made to save the limb, it not being safe to attempt an amputation. Last Sunday morning Drs. DeLong and Smith performed the operation, amputating the limb above the knee. The patient is doing well and it is hoped he will now recover.

Pleasant Time.

The dance at Cameron last Friday evening, under the auspices of Cameron Castle, K. G. E., was a success and the Castle realized a neat sum. There was a large attendance.

The Baptist Church to be Re-opened.

The Rev. W. A. Pugsley, of Genoa, N. Y., has accepted a call to become pastor of the Baptist church of this place.

Mr. Pugsley has done a great work in his present field and we are glad to welcome a man of his spiritual and intellectual entertainments among us. The new pastor will hold his opening service on the first Sunday in October.

Social Hop.

The young people of Emporium indulged in a pleasant social hop at the rink Monday evening, and despite the inclement weather was largely attended and a jolly good time was had by all. Guests from out of town were: Miss Kissinger, Williamsport; Miss Yennie, Wilcox; Miss Huntley, Driftwood; Miss Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cooper and Ralph Avery, Keating Summit; Roy McDonald, Cleveland; Rol McClain, Ridgway and Bert Smith, Renovo.

Runaway.

H. H. Cloyes, manager for W. D. Johnson at this place, met with an exciting runaway yesterday. While driving up Fourth street with two horses the wagon tongue fell to the ground, frightening the horses and they ran at a lively gait up Broad street. Mr. Cloyes stuck to the wagon until the team reached Hauber's wagon shop, when he jumped. One horse received an ugly cut on one leg. Mr. Cloyes was considerably jarred but not injured.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

WHITMER.

MRS MARY JANE WHITMER, aged 65 years five months and 24 days, died at the family residence in this place, Friday morning, July 26th, 1901. Mrs. Whitmer had been in feeble health for a number of years, during which time she was a great sufferer. The funeral took place last Sunday at two o'clock, p. m., from the family home on West Sixth street, Rev. O. S. Metzler, pastor of Methodist Episcopal church conducting the services. The funeral was very largely attended by our citizens. The pall bearers were members of the Maccabees, of which deceased's sons were honorable members. Deceased leaves an invalid husband (Capt. I. P. Whitmer,) and several children, who are certainly entitled to the sympathy of their friends, who commend the kindness and cheerful duty they have shown to their invalid parents.

LEWIS.

MRS. SALLIE LEWIS, aged 83 years, relict of Henry Lewis, who died some eight years ago, passed away last Monday. The funeral was held yesterday from her residence on North Creek. Deceased has been in feeble health for many years and bore her affliction without complaint. She was an excellent lady and highly respected. She leaves four sons, A. W., Aff., (In Mich.), J. W. and F. A., and three daughters, Mrs. Carolina Haskins, Mrs. May Lewis and Mrs. Marilda Lewis, the latter having taken care of her during the past twelve years, faithfully and well. The funeral took place yesterday from the Wesleyan Methodist church, Rev. Readette officiating. A large number of friends and relatives attended.

A Woodsman Falls on an Axe and Bleeds to Death.

Last week Carl Walters, aged 22 years, in company with his brother Frank contracted with W. D. Johnson to cut and stock some logs on Canoe Run, about two miles from Whittemore Hill. On Thursday last the crew, nine in number went actively to work and during the morning Carl had occasion to go to some other part of the job stuck his axe into a log, intending to get it on his return. Some time during the morning he cut his foot quite badly but being a rugged young fellow paid little attention to the blood that was running into his shoe, at the same time sapping away his strength. When he returned for his axe it is supposed he slipped and fell, more from weakness than accident, striking his right arm against the keen blade, and cutting a deep gash just below the muscle severing an artery. Blood spurted a distance of five or six feet and every effort to stop the flow proved fruitless. Dr. Heilman was sent for as fast as fleet footed men could make the trip, while the wounded man was carried to the residence of Samuel Parks, their boarding house. It was fully two hours from the time of the accident until the arrival of Dr. Heilman, who done all within his power to save him, but without avail. The poor boy remained conscious until about ten minutes before death, which took place at 4:30 the same afternoon.

Carl Walters and brother came here from Grantonia, where they had just completed a contract with Mr. Johnson, with whom they have worked every season for some years. Mr. Johnson in conversation with the PRESS editor said: "Carl Walter's death is a terribly sad piece of news to all of us; he was an industrious, sober and reliable young man; has worked for me considerable and I had the utmost confidence in him. During the summer he saved his earnings and attended school in the winter, being desirous of obtaining an education. Last winter he attended school at Lock Haven and hoped to go back this winter. Both young men reside at Grantonia, where they have three single sisters and a little brother dependent upon them, also an aged father."

The remains were taken in charge by funeral director LaBar and in charge of the grief-stricken brother, shipped to Grantonia last Friday morning.

The funeral was held at Grantonia last Sunday afternoon, at two o'clock, and was the largest known at that place, testifying in unmistakable terms the esteem in which the deceased was held. Rev. Thos. W. McKentey, pastor of M.E. church, officiated and spoke in highest praise of the dead. The pall bearers were all neighbors and close friends. The remains covered with beautiful flowers were laid to rest in Mt. Pleasant cemetry. Mr. W. D. Johnson, accompanied by a number of co-laborers from this section, drove across the hills from this place and attended the funeral of their respected friend.

Before leaving here for Grantonia the boys made a purse of $150.00, and sent it to the bereaved family. Where in this broad land will you find larger hearted men, men who will divide their last dollar and never refuse an appeal for aid, than among the sturdy woodsman of Cameron? They may appear, at times, to have a rough exterior but their hearts are as large as that of an oxen.

Literary Prize Contest.

Answer to question number 8—The quotation is contained in Edmund Burke's speech in the British Parliament on conciliation with America, delivered March 22d, 1775. He supposes that in 1704 a celestial visitant may have appeared, and pointed out to Lord Bathurst "a little speck, scarce visible in the mass of national interest" and should have said to him: "Young man, there is America,—which at this day serves for little more than to amuse you with stories of savage men and uncouth manners, yet shall before you taste of death, show itself equal to the whole of that commerce which now attracts the envy of the world."

Burke's prediction, (uttered before the Declaration of Independence) has been fulfilled beyond even his own sanguine expectations.

A large proportion of the failures in life are to be found in the ranks of the chronic leaners. Everywhere we go we meet earnest, conscientious workers who are amazed that they do not get on faster. They wax eloquent over their fancied wrongs, the injustice that confines them to inferior grades, while persons with no more education, ability or perseverance than they possess are advanced over their heads. To the casual observer, writes O. S. Marden, in Success, they seem to have cause for grievance; but when we analyze these people we find what the trouble really is. They are incapable of independent action. They dare not make the slightest move without assistance from some outside source, the advice or opinion of some one on whose judgment they are wont to rely. They have no confidence in themselves—do not trust their own powers. They have never learned to stand squarely on their feet, to think their own thoughts and make their own decisions. They have leaned upon somebody from childhood, all through the formative period of character building, until a habit of leaning is chronic. Any faculty which is unused for a long time loses its power. It is a law of nature that we must use or lose. If a man ceases to exercise his muscles they soon become weak and flabby. The same inexorable law governs man's mental powers. So the men and women who have never learned the fundamental lesson of self-reliance, who have never used their God-given faculties in reasoning with themselves, making their own decisions and in being their own final court of appeal, grow up weaklings, parasites. God intended them to stand alone, to draw upon His inexhaustible power without stint. He meant them to be oaks, but they have become vines. Not realizing that all growth is from within, they have reversed this fundamental truth and endeavored to draw their strength from the outside.

The Chronic Leaners.

The latest thing in the eating saloon and lunch cafe line is the automatic or waiterless restaurant. There is not a waiter in the place, and the only human being visible upon entering the restaurant is the check man. His only duty is to furnish checks to customers for cash, and these checks are used to procure a meal from the numerous dumb waiters with slot-machine arrangements, which are grouped around the restaurant walls. Before the face of each dumb waiter is the bill of fare furnished by the particular machine. Anything from a sandwich and coffee to a course dinner can be procured. If a person wishes ham and eggs and a few vegetables, marked down on the bill of fare as costing 50 cents, he simply drops a 50-cent check into the slot and the numerous dishes come up one by one on the dumb waiter. All the diner has to do is to arrange the dishes before him on the table which stands beside each waiter.

A manufacturer of farm machinery told a gathering of farmers that if he treated the machinery in his factory as they treated that which he made for them, he would soon be a bankrupt. The waste involved in leaving implements exposed to the weather accounts for much of that which is classed as agricultural loss. In immense establishments, or in large business enterprises the operations of which extend over a wide territory, what might be called petty economies are followed. Minute care for slight details makes an important difference in dividends. The managers cannot afford to be wasteful. The extravagance of the individual is often in violent contrast with corporate prudence.

A Chicago man thus advertised, and with success, for a domestic: "Wanted—Girl for general housework; union or nonunion; any old kind; family of three adults and three children, with nurse; nice, large, airy room, with southwest breeze, for girl; no washing nor much of anything else to do; one girl quit because we invited some relatives to help us celebrate the Fourth; next Fourth, if girl demands it, we will disown our relatives and renounce our country." And yet that household is without a girl.

CONFLICT IRREPRESSIBLE.

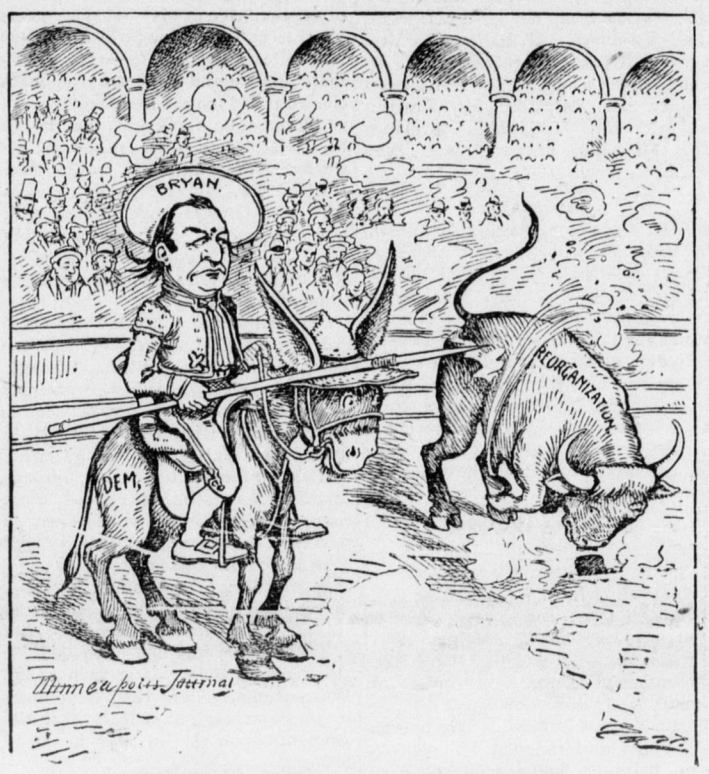
Democratic Platform Makers Bound to Bring On a Break in the Party.

The action of the Ohio democrats in their state convention means something more than that, in the wrangle between the local bosses, McLean got the candidates and Tom Johnson wrote the platform. The apparent rejection of Bryan and all his works by the convention marks a departure in the democratic policy which promises to have important consequences for that party, and to register itself conspicuously in national politics. We say apparent, for there is much in Tom Johnson's programme which Bryan would favor, and there is something in it which he has favored. The demagogic and futile assault on the trusts which the Ohio democrats made has been made frequently by Bryan, for it represents his notions on that subject, as he has often and prominently presented them. But the platform makers overwhelmingly rejected the plan to reaffirm the Kansas City platform, the chief point of objection to that deliverance, of course, being its silver plank. The convention itself took pains to scorn and deride Bryan personally in trampling on the banner containing his portrait.

Warfare has been inevitable between the Bryan and anti-Bryan factions of the democracy in 1904 in any event. The first skirmish in that war took place in the convention at Columbus, and the anti-Bryanites won. The same section of the democracy which dictated that party's municipal ticket in St. Louis a few months ago carried the Ohio convention, with this difference, that much of the Ohio platform would have been favored by the municipal ownership people of St. Louis, who opposed the regular democratic ticket here. The break in Ohio has been on Bryan and silver, and the cleavage throughout the country will be on that line. Bryan and silver are synonymous. Bryan means silver and silver means Bryan. By throwing Bryan overboard the Ohio democrats necessarily reject silver, though some of the men on their ticket have favored silver, and all of them have supported Bryan. The cause of silver and the fortunes of Bryan are inseparably linked in politics, as the Ohio democrats made plain in their assault on both.

The war which has been started in Ohio in the democracy will continue until after the campaign of 1904 is completed. At the outset the victory is with the reorganizers, for the friends of Bryan, numerous and eloquent as they were, were beaten. Probably they will be beaten in many other states, for in some of the west and in most of the east the reorganizers are undoubtedly in preponderance in their party. In most of the trans-Mississippi states, however, the Bryanite section is in the majority. It is in the majority in Missouri, notwithstanding the victory of the anti-Bryan element in the municipal canvass in St. Louis this year. It is in the majority in Kansas, Arkansas, Nebraska, Texas and most of the other states between the Mississippi and the Pacific. There will be a contest in the democracy of every state on Bryan, and, while there is a probability that he will be defeated in the convention of 1904, there is very far from being a probability that it will strengthen the democratic party in the nation at large. Bryan himself will make no concession to the reorganizers. There are hundreds of thousands of men who voted for him in 1896 and 1900 who would rather see the republicans carry every state in the union than have an anti-Bryan democratic candidate win. The democracy's irrepressible conflict has begun, and it will wage until one or the other faction is overthrown. The Ohio convention proclaimed to the country that the national democracy is a house divided against itself, and the party will be forced to accept the calamity which that condition imposes.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

☞"Coin" Harvey wants to run for congress in Arkansas. He has picked out a good state, and if he moves back into those pine woods, where they do not yet know the civil war is over, he may be able to so hoodwink the people that they will elect him.—Iowa State Register.



THE REAL NEBRASKA BULL FIGHTER.

BRYAN'S DYING THROES.

Pathetic Defense of His Old and Rotten Issue So Long Ready for Burial.

There is little of the swan song in the latest wail of William Jennings Bryan. It is much more vigorous than sweet, but it is none the less a certain indication of the end. Naturally Mr. Bryan sticks to free silver and the Chicago and Kansas City platforms. He has no other theme; there is but one string to his harp, and even though this be frayed and sadly out of tune, he must thrum it industriously or quit playing.

But he has another reason for bitterly opposing the action—or silence—of the Ohio democratic convention. He is now an editor, and must think something of the circulation of his paper. Let him be read out of the party in every state, as he has been in Ohio; let the dead issue of free silver be decently buried by every state convention of his erstwhile followers, and where will the Commoner be?

So the repudiated and oft-defeated champion of free silver, the one-time leader of the elements of discontent, masquerading under the name of a great political party, says of the Ohio snub recently administered: "I don't object to having it distinctly understood that I intend to fight to the bitter end every effort to force the abandonment of the Chicago and Kansas City platforms." It may be consoling to reflect that in the very nature of things this fight will not be prolonged, that the "bitter end" has appeared on the horizon and is even now much bigger than a man's hand.

Mr. Bryan thinks there is too much significance attached to the Ohio convention, and in this belief he has the warm indorsement of Champ Clark, who adds: "I don't know what the issue of 1904 will be, and I don't think Mr. Bryan pretends to know, but I know who will do the issuing. It will be the men who were faithful to the party in 1900."

And this naturally raises the by no means settled question: Who are these faithful ones? Are they those who have been responsible for the most thorough disruption of a party ever known in the history of this country? or are they those who have stood and are standing valiantly by that party's traditions and are now trying to reunite it?

There is fitness in Mr. Bryan's pathetic defense of his old issue. Free silver has long since died, and a prosperous people can look on complacently while its most persistent advocate opens the grave there tearfully to lay his own dead hopes and ambitions.—Chicago Post.

CURRENT COMMENT.

☞The democratic party realizes that it has a past of which the least said the better.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

☞The action of the Ohio democrats in regard to Bryan and silver becomes the more significant the more you think about it. It was hard to appreciate it fully at first.—Indianapolis News (Ind.).

☞William J. Bryan announces that he will fight for the Kansas City platform. Apparently Mr. Bryan doesn't believe in deserting an old friend because it happens to be down.—Chicago Record-Herald.

☞It is the opinion of some democrats that William Jennings Bryan is planning to punish the party for not electing him in 1900 by bolting the organization three years hence and running as a populist or independent. Whatever he may do, he is a disturbing element.—Indianapolis Journal.

☞Mr. Bryan must begin to feel like Napoleon on St. Helena. He is likely to find that democracy is a shifting aggregation of thought and desirous only of a candidate who can win. Opportunism is all that there has been to practical democracy throughout its career, while in so far as its alleged principles are concerned it is like Artemus Ward—it hasn't any; it's in the show business. And a mighty poor show it has been for a long time.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Admiral Schley Asks for a Court of Inquiry.

The Highest Officers of the Navy Have Been Called to Sit in Final Judgment on the Dispute Between Sampson and Schley.

Washington, July 24.—The Washington Post on Monday night telegraphed Admiral Schley that in an editorial it insisted that he owed it to himself as well as to his friends to begin proceedings against Mr. Maclay, the author of the History of the United States Navy, to disprove the latter's charges, adding: "Will you do this? Please wire statement."

Yesterday it received the following telegram:

"Great Neck, L. I., July 23.—I believe the first step should be an investigation of all matter by a court, then a civil action afterwards. I am preparing to take this course.

"W. S. SCHLEY."

The Post, as a result of extensive inquiries based upon the admiral's dispatch, says:

"Admiral Schley proposes to ask an investigation at the hands of a naval court of inquiry and then to sue Historian Maclay for libel.

"His action is the sequel to the developments during the past week, when the entire country has been stirred by the publication of the unexampled abuse poured out upon him in the third volume of E. S. Maclay's History of the United States Navy, in which publication Schley is said to have run away 'in caitiff flight,' and is, in addition, denounced as a coward, a cur and a traitor."

The Schley court of inquiry will undoubtedly be one of the most celebrated cases in the naval or military history of the country.

Mr. Long has already stated that if Admiral Schley requested a court of inquiry he would grant the request, and has also expressed his willingness to personally select the court. While he has not made any statement as to its personnel, there is every reason to believe that he favors Admiral Dewey and Rear Admirals Ramsey and Benham, the two latter being now upon the retired list.

The name of Admiral Walker has been suggested, but it is known that he has expressed views upon the Sampson-Schley controversy in antagonism to Schley and his appointment would, therefore, be seriously questioned. It is said that Dewey, Ramsey and Benham have always carefully avoided giving an opinion as to the merits of the controversy.

Three names are mentioned because that number is specified in the naval regulations for courts of inquiry.

With respect to the matters to be inquired into by the court of inquiry the Post says that it might be difficult to state briefly the exact questions which will come before the court, but that Schley condensed them in a letter written to Senator Hale, chairman of the senate committee on naval affairs, February 18, 1899. This letter divided the criticisms of himself into four heads, as follows:

First—The alleged delay off Cienfuegos, Cuba.

Second—The alleged slow progress toward Santiago from Cienfuegos.

Third—The retrogade movements on the 26th and 27th of May. (This refers to the turning of the fleet from Santiago toward Key West.)

Fourth—The battle of Santiago and the destruction of Cervera's fleet.

Washington, July 25.—Rear Admiral Schley's request for the appointment of a court of inquiry has been granted by the secretary of the navy.

Washington, July 26.—The board of inquiry, which is to investigate Admiral Schley's conduct during the Spanish war, will be composed of Admiral Dewey, president of the court, and Rear Admirals Kimberly and Benham. The court will meet in Washington September 12. Secretary Long has tendered to Sam C. Lemly, judge advocate general of the navy, the position of judge advocate of the court of inquiry.

Maclay's Job in Danger.

Washington, July 25.—An effort has been made to secure the removal of Edgar S. Maclay, the author of the history of the Spanish war containing the criticisms on Rear Admiral Schley. Maclay is a clerk in the Brooklyn navy yard. Congressman Mudd, of Maryland, called on Secretary Long yesterday and represented to him the impropriety of Maclay continuing an employe of the government, in view of the language he made use of in referring to Admiral Schley. The secretary promised to give the matter his early attention.

Kaiser to Act as Peacemaker.

London, July 26.—"The rumor as to early peace negotiations which has pervaded the house of commons for some days," says the Daily Express, "has taken the more definite form that Emperor William is soon to assume the role of peacemaker. Mr. Kruger and his advisers are represented as having empowered the kaiser to act for the Boers, and he is considered willing to take the initiative in order to popularize his relations with the German people, who disapprove his friendship for Great Britain."

Big Contracts Awarded.

Pittsburg, July 24.—Contracts were let Tuesday by President Ramsey, of the Wabash railroad, for work on the Pittsburg, Carnegie & Western railroad, which will be the line over which the Wabash will gain entrance into Pittsburg. The value of the contracts so far given amounts to $3,000,000 and work is to start to-day. W. E. Kenefick & Co., of Kansas City, secured the contract for six miles of grading and a tunnel 4,450 feet long, for $1,250,000. They will employ 1,000 men on the work. All of the work is to be completed within 12 months.

Rheumatic pains are cured by

Dr. Greene's NERVURA

TWENTY YEARS OF RHEUMATISM

CURED BY Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

Mrs. Phoebe M. Carew, Ellinburgh, N.Y., a prominent member of the Methodist Church, says:—

"I had been very sick with rheumatism for twenty years, and had tried everything that was ever used for rheumatism, but after my sister, who lives in Minneapolis, wrote me such a strong letter, I resolved to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

"I had failed right straight along all winter, growing weaker every day, until I began to use the Nervura. I had not used as much as one bottle when I could get up from my bed and walk over my house, where before I could not stand upon my feet. My limbs grew stronger rapidly, while before they had no strength at all.

"I have been doctoring for twenty years for rheumatism and never had anything before that seemed to go all through my system and do me the good Dr. Greene's Nervura did. In twenty years doctoring, including doctors and all others, everything and all put together are far below the good Nervura has done me.

"The first dose I took I could feel all through my body, and it began to help me from the first. You have my permission to publish this letter, with my photograph."

DUN'S REVIEW OF TRADE

Conditions in the Business World are Favorable, Despite Labor Troubles.

New York, July 27.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: A fortnight of the steel strike has passed without materially altering the position of the contestants, or adversely affecting the industry as a whole. Exceptional activity is noticed at the mills not affected by the strike, and the movement of structural material for bridges, buildings and track elevation is still heavy. Steel bars for agricultural implement makers are firm in price and freely purchased. Railways seek freight cars, and rails are sold for delivery next January. Cotton ties, sheets and hoops are commanding a premium. Pig iron is accumulating, but producers offer no concessions.

New lines of woolen goods for delivery after October 1 opened at moderate reductions from last year's prices, as generally expected by the trade. Supplies of heavy weight goods have been reduced to a satisfactory point and the situation in all branches of the industry is such as to engender confidence. Raw wool, however, thus far fails to reflect the improvement, quotations remaining unchanged at the lowest average price in four years.

Shoe shops are producing at full capacity, with orders arriving steadily, and salesmen are already placing spring samples liberally in western and southern markets.

Failures for the week numbered 198 in the United States, against 231 last year, and 28 in Canada, against 28 last year.

Showers in the Corn Belt.

Topeka, Kan., July 27.—General rains throughout Kansas yesterday caused an effectual break in the drouth. The rains came too late to be of material benefit to the corn, but will result in plenty of stock water and giving new life to the pastures. The rain in Topeka lasted an hour. Among the towns reporting rains are Pittsburg, Lawrence, Leavenworth, Eureka, Osage City, Burlingame, Emporia, Parsons, Iola and Lyndon. These localities report precipitation from light showers up to heavy rains. In many places rain is still falling and indications are for heavier downfall.

Earthquakes in Nevada.

Salt Lake, Utah, July 27.—A section 75 miles wide through the Nevada desert experienced a series of heavy earthquake shocks Friday. The vibrations generally were from north to south and at one or two points lasted five seconds. At Elko, Nev., the shock was unusually severe. The high school building, a big new brick edifice, was badly cracked by the violence of the vibrations and other buildings were slightly damaged.

Cigarmakers Strike.

Tampa, Fla., July 27.—A general cigarmakers' strike was declared here Friday. This is a strike of all La Resistencia workmen, about 5,000 in number, because the International union men are at work in their factories. Only three factories remain unaffected by the strike. The strikers demand an average increase of $5 per thousand.

Accepted the Chinese Offer.

Pekin, July 27.—The ministers of the powers have sent a note to the Chinese peace commissioners formally accepting the recent Chinese offer, which was for the payment of 450,000,000 taels as indemnity, at 4 per cent. interest, the final payment to be made in 1940. The total payments of principal and interest will be 1,000,000,000 taels.

Kitchener to Leave Africa.

London, July 27.—The Cape Town correspondent of the Standard says: "It is reported in Pretoria that Lord Kitchener will give up his command August 31 and proceed to England, where he will remain five months, then taking over the supreme command in India, and that Sir Bindon Blood is expected to succeed him in South Africa."

The Launching of the Maine.

Philadelphia, July 27.—The launching of the battleship Maine at Cramp's shipyard will take place to-day. The Maine is a sister ship of the Ohio, recently launched at San Francisco, and of the Missouri, at the Newport News ship yard. She is 388 feet long and displaces 12,230 tons.

OUR TRADE GROWS.

Value of Exports in Last Fiscal Year $1,487,000,000.

THE IMPORTS $822,673,000

Value of Farm Products Twice that of Manufactures.

BIG INCREASES ARE SHOWN.

Statement Prepared by the Treasury Department Demonstrates that Great Britain Is Still Our Best Customer Among the Nations.

Washington, July 27.—The detailed figures of the foreign commerce of the United States in the year ended June 30, 1901, were completed by the treasury bureau of statistics Friday. They show total imports $822,673,016; total exports $1,487,755,557.

The imports by great classes in the fiscal year 1901, compared with the preceding year, are as follows: Articles of food and animals in 1900, $218,510,098; 1901, $222,227,898; articles in a crude condition for use in domestic industry in 1900, $302,426,748; in 1901, $269,763,404; articles wholly or partially manufactured for use in manufactures and mechanical arts in 1900, $88,354,439; in 1901, $79,080,716; articles manufactured ready for consumption in 1900, $128,900,597; in 1901, $130,662,903; articles of voluntary use, luxuries, etc, in 1900, $111,670,094; in 1901, $120,938,095.

The exports of domestic merchandise by great classes were as follows:

Products of agriculture...	$944,059,568
Products of manufacture..	410,509,173
Products of mining.....	39,267,647
Products of the forest....	54,312,830
Products of the fisheries...	7,743,313
Miscellaneous....	4,561,278

Each of these great classes except manufactures show a marked increase over last year. The decrease in manufactures, which amounts to $23,342,583, is due chiefly to the absence of figures showing exports to Hawaii and Porto Rico, which are estimated at about $25,000,000 for the year and largely consisted of manufactures. In two important articles of manufacture, however, the exports of 1901 fall below those of 1900. The total exports of copper in 1901 were 252,769,328 pounds, valued at $41,260,376, against 33,340,725 pounds in 1900, valued at $55,772,166. This decrease was due to a reduction in demand for copper in Europe. In cotton cloths there was a reduction, due to the temporary suspension of exports to China.

The exports to each of the continents except Asia and Oceanica show a marked increase over last year. To Oceanica the apparent decrease of $8,014,099 is entirely due to the absence of the Hawaiian figures from the export statement of 1901.

To Asia, the reduction of $15,510,993 is due in part to the temporary suspension of exports to China during the recent period of hostilities, and in part to the reduction in exports of cotton to Japan, as compared with abonrmal exports in 1900.

By far the largest increase in exports was to the United Kingdom, the total increase being nearly $100,000,000, of which over $50,000,000 was in cotton, about $15,000,000 in breadstuffs and about $10,000,000 in provisions. The total exports to British territory were valued at $819,651,392.

The total imports of the year were $27,268,168, less than those of 1900 and $22,243,180 less than those of 1891. The total exports were $93,272,475 in excess of those of 1900, and $603,274,747 in excess of those of 1891.

Picketing Is Permitted.

New York, July 27.—Permanent injunction papers restraining the striking weavers of Frank & Dugan's silk mill in Paterson, N. J., from "serenading" or otherwise annoying non-union workers, were receive din Paterson yesterday. The papers permit the strikers to post pickets and to urge workers to leave their places, but all of this must be done in a peaceable manner. The temporary injunction forbade the picketing.

SUN'S DOOR OPEN.

A Deadly Wave of Heat Sweeps Over the West.

Dozens of People Died from Its Effects—Crops Withered and Died Under the Terrible Blistering They Received—All Records Broken.

Chicago, Chicago, July 23.—Ten dead men, one insane and five prostrations showed the result of Sunday's sweltering heat. The temperature Monday was pleasant, being below 80, and the deaths and prostrations were therefore the work of Sunday.

Metropolis, Ill., July 23.—Heat here Monday was greater than ever before in this section. Thermometers registered 110 in the shade and several small thermometers in exposed locations burst because of the intensity of the sun's rays.

Kansas City, July 23.—Monday was the hottest day ever known in Kansas City, the temperature reaching 106. Twenty deaths from the heat were reported Sunday and yesterday,

Topeka, Kan., July 23.—Three deaths and ten prostrations form the record of Monday's heat in Topeka. The thermometer registered 106. From numerous places in Kansas come reports of intense heat and much resulting damage. Slight showers fell last evening in some regions, but the larger part of the state is still parched by the terrible heat. In some parts of the state the temperature was as high as 109. The most hopeful estimate of the probable corn yield has fallen from half a crop to a quarter of a crop. Many counties report a total loss.

St. Paul, Minn., July 24.—Reports from all sections of Minnesota and the Dakotas show that the heat wave continues with increased intensity. Many stations reported yesterday as being a record breaker, with maximum temperatures ranging from 100 to 108. Bismarck reports a maximum of 106, the highest in many years. In St. Paul the top was reached at 100. The heat has had the effect of maturing grain much earlier than usual and in northern Minnesota and Dakota the wheat is about ready to cut. Work in the harvest fields, however, is carried on with great difficulty, many prostrations of men and animals being reported.

New York, July 24.—The Journal of Commerce, which telegraphed to a large number of bank presidents in Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas, prints a special report which says:

"There is every reason for believing that the early reports of damage to the corn crop by the drouth have not been exaggerated. On the contrary it is quite evident that the situation is very much worse than at first reported and that much of the injury is beyond repair.

"The region of worst damage lies within an irregular circle of about 600 miles in diameter, with St. Joseph, Mo., as an approximate center.

"The following question was sent to the bank presidents: 'Kindly wire us opinion of percentage of damage to corn and live stock by drouth in your vicinity.'

"The answers indicate very serious losses in the region specified. In Kansas many report 75 per cent. damage to corn; in Missouri the majority of reports are between 50 and 75 per cent. damage; in Nebraska the reports are generally between 33 and 50 per cent. damage, while in Iowa the injury is generally between 25 and 30 per cent.

"It would seem from the returns given that a loss of 50 per cent. in this district would be a moderate estimate. This would indicate a loss of at least 312,000,000 bushels in the region of the greatest drouth."

Topeka, Kan., July 25.—The heat record for Kansas was broken again yesterday. At Topeka the government record gave 106 degrees and thermometers in the street registered 110 and 112 degrees. Manhattan reported 112, Emporia 112, Ottawa 110, Atchison 104, Abilene 108. Numerous prostrations are reported and in Abilene there were three deaths.

The financial part of the situation is lost sight of for the present. The thought now is of the extreme physical discomfort resulting from the heat, the alarming scarcity of drinking water and the prospect of much sickness after the heated spell.

St. Louis, July 25.—The maximum temperature here yesterday was 107, a figure never reached before in this city. Throughout the day people dropped on the sidewarlks in all parts of the city and horses in the streets fell to the pavement unable to move. In the 24 hours ending at 11 o'clock last night 40 deaths directly attributable to the heat had been reported. In the same period 75 cases of prostration went on record.

St. Louis, July 26.—Winds that prevailed yesterday made their presence decidedly felt on the superheated atmosphere and brought glad relief to suffering man and beast. A maximum of 99 degrees was recorded. The diminution in the intensity of the heat was shown by the marked reduction in the death and prostration lists. Thirty-three deaths and 27 cases of prostration were reported, as against 43 deaths and 75 prostrations in the previous 24 hours.

Nine People Injured.

Chicago, July 22.—Nine passengers were seriously injured and several others painfully bruised in the wreck of a Madison street cable car Sunday. The train was running at full speed, when the grip car was brought to a sudden stop because of a defective cable rope. The trailer bounced from the track, rose skyward and crashed with terrific force into the grip car. The shock was of such force that the passengers were thrown from their seats, several landing in the street headforemost and others falling against the seats and sides of the car.

THE BIG LAND LOTTERY.

A Cabinet Officer Says It Is a Good Thing for Poor Men and Prevents the Rich from Grabbing.

Washington, July 24.—Secretary Hitchcock said yesterday with reference to the effort to prevent the opening of the Oklahoma Indian lands to settlement by injunction proceedings at El Reno, that the preparations of the department for the opening would proceed as though no suit had been begun. "We shall not let the matter go by default," he said, "but we apprehend no obstacle from that proceeding. Any one can bring a suit."

The secretary took cognizance of reports coming from Oklahoma that the men who are registering at El Reno and Fort Sill are doing so with the intention of transferring their rights to others. "The report," he said, "is to the effect that they can and will dispose of their numbers at enormous profits. That is absurd, because it is impossible under the regulations for them to transfer their rights. For any of them to attempt to do so would be a clear violation of the law. They take an oath not to do such a thing and to use their rights for their own exclusive benefit. There can be no speculation in these numbers."

The secretary also said that reports are coming to the department of schemes for disposing of numerous town sites, the promoters offering chances to the public. "The only town sites which have been authorized," the secretary said, "are those of the three county seats. No others have been sanctioned and no one knows where others will be. Hence all except those three are bogus and reports of their establishment should be denounced as intending to deceive the public."

Referring to the suggestion that the new lands should be sold at auction and the proceeds of the sale turned over to the Indians, the secretary said:

"These lands are as much government property as are any other part of the public domain. They have been purchased from the Indians and title is no longer in them. Hence the plan is not feasible. Moreover, it would not be wise, if practicable, for if the lands were put up at auction they all would fall into the hands of men with money, and the poor man would have no chance whatever. Under the present plan all have equal rights, regardless of conditions of wealth, and that this fact is recognized is made evident by the large number taking advantage of the opportunity for registration."

El Reno, O. T., July 25.—The record was again broken yesterday when 16,708 registrations were made in El Reno. Total for El Reno 120,637. The registration at Lawton was 1,342, making the total for that place 29,288. Grand total 149,925.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

Arrangements Are Made to Bring the Western Posts to Cleveland, O., on Special Trains—The Rates.

Cleveland, July 26.—The Grand Army departments of Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas have issued official orders to the posts of their respective states regarding the national encampment in Cleveland. The Nebraska people will run a special train from Omaha. The train will be decorated with bunting, streamers and grain, the latter the product of the state. The departments of Utah, Idaho, Montana, Colorado and Wyoming have been invited to accompany Nebraska. The Missouri general order urges the greatest possible representation of posts from that state. Commander-in-chief Rassieur will accompany Frank P. Blair post, of St. Louis, on its special train, which will reach Cleveland on September 9. The department of Kansas will run a headquarters train.

St. Louis, July 26.—General orders issued by Commander-in-Chief Rassieur, of the G. A. R., in regard to the national encampment to be held in Cleveland September 9 to 14, state that the Central Passenger association has made a rate of one cent a mile to and from Cleveland. All other passenger associations, east, south and west, have made rates from one fare for the round trip to a fare and a third, plus $2, which will apply through their respective territories, but when the Central Passenger association territory is reached the one cent a mile rate will only be charged.

Sues for $95,000.

Butte, Mont., July 26.—Eva A. Ingersoll, of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., widow of the late Robert G. Ingersoll, has brought suit in the district court here against several heirs of the estate of Andrew J. Davis to recover judgment for $95,000, with interest from August 24, 1897, for legal services rendered by Col. Ingersoll during trial of the suit involving the validity of the alleged will of the dead millionaire, A. J. Davis. Plaintiff alleges that the lawyer was to be paid $100,000 for his work, but afterward a compromise was effected among the heirs and the alleged will was admitted to probate.

Hart Issues a Challenge.

Chicago, July 24.—Nettled by recent uncomplimentary comparisons of the relative playing strength of the Chicago National league and American league teams, President Hart has issued a challenge in behalf of the National league club for a series of seven or more games between the two local teams, to be played between September 30 and October 15.

A Story of Wreck and Disaster.

Seattle, Wash., July 24.—The steamship Humboldt, with $100,000 in treasure and 80 passengers, has arrived from Alaska. She brings news that two river barges were found deserted and the eight men who were in charge of them gone. Three ocean barges belonging to Black Sullivan, loaded with 300 tons of merchandise and bound for Dawson via St. Michaels, have been wrecked near Kodiak. The ocean barges went on the rocks at Rocky island. Eight men started from White Horse on June 10 and 12 for Dawson in two scows, which were later found on Freeman's Point

THE STEEL STRIKE.

No Indications of a Speedy Settlement.

Both Sides Maintain Firm Attitudes and the Contest Seems Likely to be One of the Longest on Record—The Situation at the Various Centers.

Pittsburg, July 23.—The expected did not happen yesterday. Neither of the looked for programs for Wellsville or McKeesport were carried out. At Wellsville the importation of men failed to materialize and at McKeesport the attempt to resume at the Dewees Wood tube plant was not made.

From the other important point, Duncansville, conflicting reports are received, and the result of the quiet struggle going on between the American Steel Hoop Co. and the Amalgamated association is still uncertain.

Late in the afternoon the Amalgamated association issued its first strike bulletin from the general offices. The bulletin is printed in the Amalgamated Journal office and is intended to give the members of the organization official news concerning the progress of the strike. In the future it will be issued on each Monday and will be followed by the regular issue of the Journal during the latter part of the week.

The bulletin gives an outline of the conditions prevailing and reproduces abstracts of President Shaffer's recent addresses at Wellsville and McKeesport. In the most prominent part of the bulletin is printed the warning words: "Do not drink, especially if the trust tries to break the strike by importing non-union men. Don't believe anyone who says the mills will be closed forever, or taken out of the community if you don't go to work."

Further on are the words: "There were not enough men in the country to run the mills before the strike, so all you need to do to win the strike is, don't work. Enjoy your summer shutdown; it means more work next winter. That is the time for mill work anyhow."

Pittsburg, July 24.—The combine forces have decided to carry the strike into the courts. Judge P. M. Smith, of Wellsville, O., has been retained by Persifer F. Smith, district manager of the American Sheet Steel Co., to prepare papers for presentation within a few days to a federal court asking for a restraining order to stop strikers from accosting or molesting in any way non-union men on the highways. The move promises a crisis in the strike.

Much interest is centering in the situation at Monessen. It is reported that 12 men were discharged Tuesday because of their too close friendship with the Amalgamated people.

Among the many peculiar conditions found at the Monessen mill is the fact that the men are paid on a tonnage basis and the company has by contract with the men offered a bonus on all tonnage over a certain limit, this bonus to be paid at the end of the year. Some of the workers have as high as $500 thus far coming to them and they realize that in case of a strike, they will lose all of this. The effect of this is to hold the men to their places.

Sharon, Pa., July 24.—A bill for a preliminary injunction has been granted by Judge Miller, restraining the strikers at the American Steel Casting Co. works from entering the grounds of the company. A hearing will be held to-morrow.

Pittsburg, July 25.—Two moves, it is said, were made Wednesday by the officials of the American Sheet Steel Co. towards the breaking of the strike. One was the shipping of some of the non-union men that have been employed in the Vandergrift mills of the company to Wellsville, to assist in the starting of the plant.

The second move that is understood to have been initiated is the starting of the long idle Hyde Park, Pa., plant of the American Sheet Steel Co., This plant was taken into the combine, burdened with the objectionable contracts made by the former owners, and has remained idle since the American Sheet Steel Co. took hold of the property.

Pittsburg, July 26.—The peace mission of M. M. Garland, who went to New York on behalf of the conservative element of the Amalgamated association, has failed. Mr. Garland was unable to secure from the steel manufacturers any terms on which a settlement could be reached. They would not recede an inch from the attitude they have taken, holding that the workers' leaders precipitated the fight and peace negotiations are off. At the same time a more powerful influence is being sought to carry the olive branch to J. P. Morgan.

Joseph Bishop, secretary of the Ohio state board of arbitration, is working as mediator, and plans to reach the combine people through Senator Hanna. Mr. Bishop is acting with the approval of the Amalgamated leaders and carries credentials from President Shaffer explaining the attitude of the association. There is little doubt that Hanna will receive the mediator graciously and it is expected he will promise to exercise his best endeavors toward a settlement. About his success with the combine people much doubt is expressed.

James Fosburg Testifies.

Pittsfield, Mass., July 23.—James Fosburg was called yesterday as a witness for the prosecution in the trial of his brother for the murder of their sister, May Fosburg. The young Yale graduate made an interesting figure on the stand and his testimony was direct and conclusive. It apparently left no doubt that his explanation of the reason why he did not know that burglars had been in the house and killed his sister was truthful. His testimony greatly increased the faith of the defense in the ultimate acquittal of his brother.

A HOT RECEPTION.

Citizens of an Illinois Town Prepared to Give One to Imported Laborers—The Latter Turned Back.

Chicago, July 26.—General Manager Aetzen, of the Latrobe steel and coupler works at Melrose Park, gave out a statement last evening, declaring that the company has abandoned the effort to bring colored laborers to Melrose Park and that they will be sent back to their homes in Alabama.

All day the 300 colored men sat in their cars at La Grange, 28 miles from Chicago in fear. A committee of five citizens of Melrose Park called on them during the morning and urged the men to return to their homes in Alabama. They informed the negroes of the actual state of affairs in Melrose Park, where 300 armed men were awaiting the arrival of the train determined that they should not be allowed to alight in the village. Their statements alarmed the imported men and finally five of them made their way into Chicago, where they sought an interview with Chief of Police O'Neil, asking protection, which he could not give, as the trouble was not within the city limits.

After the five men had left the train to come to Chicago, the fears of those left on the train increased greatly, and it was with difficulty that the trainmen managed to keep them from running away in a panic. Nearly all of the colored men declared that they would not go to Melrose Park and that if taken there on the train, they would refuse to get off. At 2 o'clock Marshal Rau, of the town of La Grange, ordered the train bearing the colored men to move out of the village. It did so and was placed on a siding two miles north of La Grange.

In the meantime the attorneys for the steel company called upon Sheriff Magerstadt and asked that the company be given ample protection against the mob violence which was threatened. They stated positively that the laborers would be landed in the shops of the company late in the afternoon, whether the sheriff furnished any aid or not.

"I have just received a telegram from Adjt. Gen. Reece offering me the aid of the state militia if I need it," said Sheriff Magerstadt, after his conference with the attorneys, "but I will not need it. I have sent half a dozen men to Melrose Park to make a report to me on the conditions there. If they say that 300 armed men are patrolling the streets, as the officials of the company inform me, I will swear in a number of deputies and will preserve the peace at all hazards. However, I am not going to call upon the militia, as the company is capable of preserving the peace whatever happens."

Out at Melrose Park the armed citizens remained on watch until assured the negroes were not coming, when they dispersed.

FLAME-SWEPT.

Davenport, Ia., Is Visited by a $700,000 Fire—Many People Were Made Homeless.

Davenport, Ia., July 26.—Fire laid waste to an area of sawmill and residence property in Davenport last evening equal to 20 ordinary city blocks. The flames started in big piles of kindling wood of the Rock Island Fuel Co. on the levee. A brisk breeze was blowing and carried the flames directly across the immense lumber yards of Weyerhauser & Denkmann, which was soon a seething mass of flames. The spread of the fire was so rapid that workmen barely had time to desert the yard.

The flames pushed their way into the adjoining residence district, closely settled with middle class homes, the average value a few thousand dollars each, from which the occupants escaped only with their lives and the clothing on their backs. Over 50 homes were burned and some tenements, resulting in hundreds of families being rendered homeless; others deserted their homes in the threatened district.

The efforts to check the flames were unavailing till they spread on the north to the spacious ground of St. Catherine's hall, a boarding school for young ladies, which was saved after the tower burned off. Gradually the battle waged on the edges of the flaming district told, as the less thickly settled portions of the city were invaded, and by 10 o'clock the conflagration was under control.

The mill and yards of the Weyerhauser & Denkmann Co. were totally destroyed; loss $400,000. Residence and other losses $300,000. The U. N. Roberts sash and door factory, Red Jacket Pump Co., Standard Oil Co., Riverside mill and Davenport woolen mills had narrow escapes, as the flames were checked just before reaching them.

It is believed there were no fatalities, although it is impossible to say definitely at this time.

Had the breeze blown from the east the entire business portion of the city would have been swept away. Fortunately a southeast breeze carried the flames toward the bluffs, and as soon as they were out of the thickly settled district the work of firemen and hundreds of volunteers brought the fire under control. The heat was intense and two ambulances were kept busy haulnig away persons who were prostrated by it. In a few instances persons living in the burned district have not been located by their relatives, but it is believed that they escaped. Possibly 100 families were rendered homeless.

Deadlock Ended.

London, July 26.—"The deadlock between the ministers of the powers has ended," says the Pekin correspondent of the Daily Mail. "Russia has withdrawn her proposal to reduce the duties to 10 per cent. and has accepted with some important reservations Great Britain's counter proposal."

A Free Trade Proclamation.

Washington, July 26.—The president yesterday issued his proclamation establishing free trade between Porto Rico and the United States and declaring the organization of a civil government for the island.

EDITORIAL MENTION.

Perhaps the reason that China is backwards is because its cue hangs behind.

The Boers knew long ago that they could have peace by asking for it, but what they really want is something on the side.

At last, somebody has invented an electric light that can be turned down without being turned out. He should become popular with courting couples.

Governors all through the West are calling on the churches to pray for rain, and then are going to service without umbrellas. This doesn't argue a faith that can move mountains.

Well! Well! Well! Strange things do happen! It has been announced that it is proposed to ask the next Congress to "make large appropriations" for rivers and harbors!

It is curious that women don't keep up with the times sufficiently to ask their husbands for $4.97 instead of five dollars, and trust to the bargain instinct to help them to make a winning.

The pleasure of J. J. Van Allen at being made a Knight of Grace is nothing, compared to that of those American ladies who were recently addressed by King Edward as his "Dutiful, loyal subjects."

Doubtless some Democrats think it's a pity that Aguinaldo couldn't have gotten that million dollar bribe for surrendering last fall in time to make a contribution that would really have been worth while to the Democratic Exchequer.

In Alabama the Legislature is to meet only once in four years under the new Constitution. Evidently Alabama believes with Thomas Jefferson that a state is best governed when it is governed least.

The automobilists in Washington have petitioned to be exempt from carrying lights at night, saying that to attend to these will increase the already pressing duties of the driver by 25 per cent. Some people have nerve. If an automobile doesn't need lights, we'd like to know what does.

One of the most thrilling short stories of the day, entitled "A Kentucky Scarab," by Crittenden Merriott, is published in the August number of the Pocket Magazine. It shows that there are more mysteries in life than any of us are apt to believe.

Democrats are funny folks, aren't they? Some five years ago, the silver men were fiercely denouncing the gold men for bolting and helping to elect McKinley. Now the same silver men, outvoted in their own party, are savagely denouncing all who won't join them in bolting.

Beechwood.

Everybody is busy harvesting these days.

C. R. Kline spent Sunday with Emporium friends.

Joe Beldin, of More Hill, visited our town last Friday.

Jos. Young, of Kane, spent Sunday with his family at this place.

Robert Armstrong transacted business on Emporium last Thursday.

Several of our people took in the shop picnic at Tunnel Hill on Saturday.

Dr. Millhaupt, of St. Marys, made a professional trip to Beechwood, Wednesday.

Platt Reed, of Galeton, a former resident of this place, visited friends here recently.

A number of our young people attended the dance at Ratbun Saturday evening.

Miss Mary Lobby and brother Joe, of Rathbun, visited friends here last week.

John Andrus, of Canton, Pa., is spending a short time with Jacob Andrus and family.

We noticed that the picture agents were rather slow in collecting money. Wonder why.

Profs. W. J. and George W. Leavitt, attended the festival at Howard, Saturday evening.

Mike Lawson, one of the N. Y. C. railroad's best firemen, visited friends here on Sunday.

George Herbstreet returned to St. Marys, Monday, after helping the old folks in haying.

Clarence Morrison is home from the woods and is spending a few days gathering huckle berries.

The many friends of "Dick" Lawson will be pleased to learn that he is recovering from his recent illness.

Miss Carrie Sanford, one of Montana's charming school teachers, visited friends here last week, guest of Gilman Leavitt and family. She departed for her western home on Monday.

Clear Creek Letter.

Everybody is busy haying.

Mrs. Smith Whitman is visiting Gardeau friends.

Messrs. Brown and Dixon are haying for Smith Whitman.

Miss Nettie Wilson, of this place has returned from the Pan-Am.

Ed Skinner has been on Moore Hill, helping his brother hay it, this week.

Messrs. Wright and King are the rushing hayers. They have their haying completed.

Mrs. Brown and daughter of Cross Fork, visited relatives in our city a few days during the past week.

Messrs. I. F. Ostrum and Charley Hall are busily haying, although the rain doesn't let them progress very last.

A valuable cow, belonging to Fred Edsal, fell and broke one of her legs last Friday. At this writing the cow is getting along nicely, and is expected will get well.

A large rattlesnake was discovered in Fred Edsall's door yard last Sunday afternoon. It was killed by Isaac Ostrum, a neighbor. The reptile measured four feet, having eight rattles. This should be a warning.

While hunting cows up Jenks Run last Saturday evening, Miss Bertha Whaley, of Moore Hill and Miss Maudie Edsall, of this place, saw a large rattlesnake. The young ladies were very much frightened, but no doubt would have killed the reptile if possible.

GUESS AGAIN.

Astounded the Editor.

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C, was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and, after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at L. Taggarts.

A New Disease Brought About by the Hot Wave.

The recent hot wave which swept over the country has added a new ailment to the many ills which afflict humanity and it is said that thousands are suffering from it. Philadelphia physicians term the new disease "chronic heat stroke." Those who worried through the warm weather without succumbing are now the greatest sufferers. Instead of prostrating them, as it did hundreds of people, the heat caused a depression, from which sprang pains in the head and chest, a feeling of lassitude in the limbs, sleeplessness and general debility. The strain of these ailments has incapacitated many and driven hundreds to their family physicians.

The best remedy, physicians agree, is plenty of sleep and rest from toil; a gentle tonic should be taken, plenty of cold, but not iced water. All alcholic drinks should be avoided. One Philadelphia doctor says this new ailment is as bad as lagrippe.

Evidently no effort has been spared to make The Ladies' Home Journal for August a positive boon to its readers during the warm midsummer days. Its light, readable articles, bright stories, clever poems, charming music, and numerous beautiful illustrations afford the easiest and pleasantest kind of entertainment for leisure hours. Enchanting views of the lovely scenery in the Engadine Valley and among the Swiss and Italian lakes, as well as such delightful articles as "The Singing Village of Germany" and "What Girl-Life in Italy Means," allure the thoughts to foreighn lands, while there are timely suggestions about "The Picnic Basket," "Keeping a House Cool in the Dog-Days," and "Sea-Side Toys and How to Make Them." Other thoroughly interesting contributions are "The First White Baby Born in the Northwest," "My Boarding School for Girls," and the usual serial and department articles. By The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

Geo. J. LaBar and wife, accompanied by their grand-son, Geo. Rishell, took in Pan-Am. this week.

Mrs. Editha Howard and children have visited Pan-America and Niagara Falls the past few days.

Mrs. F. S. Coppersmith and children are making an extended visit in Potter county and Arcade, N. Y.

Mrs. M. J. Byrnes, nee Minnie Creaton, and two children, of Mt. Alto, Pa., are visiting her mother at this place.

Mrs. H. A. Cox, of Philadelphia, is visiting relatives and friends in town guest of her sister, Mrs. Geo. Guinn.

Mrs. I. K. Hockley last Friday returned from an extended visit with friends and relatives at eastern points.

Prof. C. P. Bastian, principal of Emporium schools, is visiting old friends at Muncy, Pa., his former home.

Master Daniel Welsh, son of Jas. J. Welsh, was a PRESS visitor on Tuesday and transacted business like a little man.

Franklin Housler informs the PRESS that his wife, who is receiving medical treatment at Binghamton, N. Y., is improving and feels encouraged.

Hon. F. X. and Mrs. Blumle, accompanied by his son Leo and daughters Misses Mary and Agnes, have returned from a delightful trip to Pan-Am.

Roy McDonald, of Cleveland, who has been enjoying himself with his many Emporium friends during the past week, left on Tuesday for his home.

Mrs. S. L. Stoddard, Mrs. J. S. Douglas and Miss Nellie O'Day, drove to Colegrove, this (Thursday) morning to visit a few days with Miss Bessie Heinaman.

Miss Grace Kissinger, of Williamsport, and Miss Flossie Yennie, of Wilcox, are guests of Misses Byrde and Flossie Taggart, at their pleasant home on Fourth street.

Mrs. Ella Gilbert, of East Heborn, is guest of Franklin Housler and family, during the absence of Mrs. Housler, (her sister) at Binghamton, where she is receiving medical treatment.

Our genial friend Frank Moon, of Shippen, was a PRESS visitor yesterday.

Miss Linda Fisk, of St. Marys, who was guest of Miss Iva McDougall, returned home yesterday.

Chas. Deihl and wife are happy over the arrival of a beautiful little lady at their home, Tuesday evening.

Postmaster Seger's new cancelling machine is one of only one hundred and fifty distributed in U. S., on trial.

R. Seger has returned from Buffalo, his wife having continued her trip to visit Erie friends. They enjoyed the trip.

Contractor Metzger informs the PRESS that he will have the electric lights up in time for Firemen's Tournament.

John Meyers has come to town to remain until after Firemen's Convention. This accounts for the big snake yarns.

John Given, of Kane, was in town on Monday visiting friends. He returned on mail, accompanied by Miss Edna Warner, who will visit with his family.

M. P. Whiting, of Ridgway, arrived in Emporium yesterday to visit with friends for a few days in this section. Elk county climate evidently agrees with him.

H. W. Martindale, of Sizerville, was a business caller at the PRESS office yesterday. In this issue will be found a business local offering for sale the well known Sizerville Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Pepper have been spending the past two weeks at Watkins Glen and other points of interest, visiting Mrs. Pepper's mother (Mrs. Joel Shives) and other relatives.

Mrs. Amos Fenton, who has been in a precarious condition for several weeks, continues to fail and her death is only a matter of a few days. Her many friends will be pained to learn this sad intelligence.

William Taylor, of Buffalo, has informed his Emporium friends that he is the proud father of a young son of the regulation weight; and consequently thinks the Pan-Am. is not the only attraction at the lake city.

Miss Carrie Sanford, of Great Falls, Montana, started for her Western home Monday, after a brief visit with Cameron county friends. Miss Sanford is one of Montana's best teachers and is a person of very pleasing appearance.

Edward Blinzler, accompanied by his wife and children, passed last week rusticating at his father-in-law's farm, near St. Marys. LATER—We regret to learn that Mr. Blinzler has been quite ill, but is expected to return to-morrow.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Fahnestock, of Waynesboro, Pa., arrived in Emporium last Saturday to visit with E. C. Davison and family, and Harry Fahnestock. They are now taking in Pan-Am., but return to Emporium to-day, to remain a week.

A mining claim in Idaho has been named "Minnie," in honor of Miss Minnie Bargelt, of Emporium, who is now visiting at "Camp Heath" in the northern part of the state. The company is composed partly of Pennsylvanians.

The arrival of that new girl at Chas. Diehl's residence, together with the loss of sleep, must have been too much for Charles. At least he took a tumble after the excitement incident to such occasions had all subsided. He came out all right after a time, only slightly disfigured but made almost a wreck of the mirror.

W. J. McLees, who during the past year has been clerk in Rockwell's drug store, at this place, greatly to the regret of his many Emporium acquaintances has accepted a position at Beech Creek, as manager of a drug store. During his stay here he made many friends by his gentlemanly and pleasant ways.

Stock Broker Wheeler ran up against the business end of a wasp or bug and as a result has suffered severely for several days, his left eye having become swollen and inflamed. Mr. Wheeler being a gentleman of veracity his friends all believe his story, except Jas. Creighton, who has his own version of the matter.

BRIEF MENTION.

The committee of arrangements are placing Cunningham farm in shape for the ball games to take place during Firemen's Convention.

About 3,000 railroad shop men and their families held their annual pic-nic at Tunnell Hill, near Sterling Run, last Saturday. They enjoyed the day hugely.

John W. Steele, better known as "Coal Oil Johnnie," is here with his wife on a visit to friends and relatives. He is now prosperously engaged in farming in Nebraska.—Franklin News.

A large number of Emporium Knight Templars attended a special session of Knapp Commandery at Ridgway, last Monday afternoon and evening. We are informed they had an enjoyable time.

Rattlesnakes must be plentiful around Driftwood when they kill the reptiles on the main streets. One evening last week Jack O'Neal killed a big rattlesnake in front of W. H. Dwyer's store. The Chester county merchant is not used to such callers down the country.

The citizens of Austin are after their water company and voted last Tuesday to bond the town $20,000 for a system to be owned by the municipality. They are tired of filthy water. We have not yet learned the result of the vote.

The convention at Emporium is a leading topic of conversation among our firemen these days. The occasion promises to be an auspicious one in the history of the association and will no doubt be largely attended.—Kane Republican.

The Year Book of the Department of Agriculture for the year 1900 has just been issued. Parties desiring a copy can obtain the same by writing to Hon. Joseph C. Sibley, Franklin, Pennsylvania.

Invitatians have been issued for a church wedding, to take place at the Methodist Episcopal church, Wednesday, Aug. 14th. at high noon, the contracting parties being Mr. Edward D. Nye and Miss Nellie Blanch Hamilton, both of this place. The PRESS hopes to give an account of the pleasant event that unites two of our most respected young people.

Big Free Mid-Way, Buffalo Attraction Increases In Popularity—Large Attendance.

The merry Big Free Midway in Buffalo is the magnet that is attracting thousands of pleasure seekers who come again and again finding at each visit something new and interesting. This Midway has become a resort for people who seek innocent amusement and its prices are within the most humble. The performances are presented on a scale of magnificence never before attempted at free street shows. The attendance has averaged 17500 daily since the opening, six weeks ago.

Among the most notable of the one hundred big shows are the Streets of Cairo, Sing Sing Prison, Idols of Art, Streets of India, Trained Animal Exhibition, German Village, White Top Palm Garden, Heaven and Hell, Gypsy Camp, Persian Beauty Show, Palais de la Danse, Arctic Cave and Athletic Auditorium.

So much has been said and printed about Midways and street fairs that it would seem to the casual observer that little more remains to be said. But the more careful student of methods and modes of amusing the public realizes that as long as Midways continue to be popular, so long will there be a large variety of topics to discuss about them. That stret fairs are beneficial is no longer questioned. Their many and great advantages are now universallly commended.

Worm at Potatoes.

The devastation wrought by the potato bug has been dwarfed into insignificance this year by the ravages of a small black worm that is working great havoc in all parts of the state. Farmers discovered its presence when the potatoes became of marketable size. It is now more plentiful than ever. The growers know of no way to combat it. It is likely that the department of agriculture will be asked to suggest some method of ridding the stalks of the pest. The potatoes have also suffered during the past week from hot weather and lack of rain. It is doubtful if there will be a full crop in any district in Pennsylvania.

Letter to S. S. Hackett.

Emporium, Pa.

Dear Sir: The late President of the Croton River Bank, at Brewsters, N. Y., built the finest house in all that region, in 1884, and painted it with lead and oil at a cost of $400—the house cost $31,000.

In 1887—three years—he repainted it with Devoe at a cost of $350. In 1897 this paint was in good condition.

Lead and oil, $400, three years. Dovoe $350, ten years.

Yours truly,

A Warning Against Impurity.

Our way through the world is beset by many insidious snares and pitfalls. Eternal vigilance is the price of moral safety. Of the many temptations which assail mankind none are more powerful or more widely prevalent than those which lead to sins of impurity and immorality. Unless we guard zealously our standards of purity it is very easy for them to become corrupted. What streams of evil influence, especially upon the characters of the young, radiate from a life stained by immorality! and on the other hand, who can estimate the power for good of a life of unquestioned purity?

There is pronounced need in this community for these warning words against impurity. A very large portion of those who hold aloof from the church, do so, not because the church is failing in her mission, but because she fulfills it too well, namely, by holding up a standard of righteousness which many persons know too well is a condemnation of their own impure lives. It is often a satisfaction to such if they can keep themselves in countenance by fastening charges of hypocrisy upon those who are identified with the church.

But to all moral delinquents there ever comes the authoritative assurance from a righteous and merciful God: "When the wicked man turneth away from his wickedness that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawful and right, he shall save his soul alive."—Emmanuel Church Parish News.

Their Secret is Out.

All Sadieville, Ky., was curious to learn the cause of the vast improvement in the health of Mrs. S. P. Whittaker, who had for a long time, endured untold suffering from a chronic bronchial trouble. "It's all due to Dr. King's New Discovery," writes her husband. It completely cured her and also cured our little grand-daughter of a severe attack of Whooping Cough. It positively cures Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Bronchitis, all Throat and Lung troubles. Guaranteed, bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. Taggart's drug store.

To Save Her Child.

From frightful disfigurement Mr. Nannie Galleger, of La Grange, Ga., applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve to great sores on her head and face, and writes its quick cure exceeded all her hopes. It works wonders in Sores, Bruises, Skin Eruptions, Cuts, Burns, Scalds and Piles 25c. Cure guaranteed by L. Taggart druggist.

Painstaking Supervisors.

Patrick O'Rourke and Edward Stewart, the Lumber township supervisors, are doing good work on the roads this year—Mr. O'Rourke having placed the roads from Sterling Run to Gibson in the best condition ever known and shows good judgement and economy, so says county commissioner A. W. Mason. Mr. Stewart is very watchful over his district and being an old hand at road making goes along without much fuss and feathers, but gets there and his people appreciate the work. The Chapman hill road is complimentary to the supervisor in charge.

There's Money in Goats.

Edward L. Arnold, who lives near Geneva, N. Y., read in a Department of Agriculture report that there was money in the Angora goat. Accordingly he purchased a small flock, including a full-blooded buck, for which he paid $250. The buck was kept alone in a large box stall. Mr. Arnold went into the box stall last Monday to do some work. He had in an inside pocket to his coat a wallet which contained a considerable sum of money. Completing the work, Mr. Arnold went to the house, and a few miuutes later discovered that the wallet was missing. After an extended search the wallet was found in the buck's stall. The wallet was spread open and the money gone. The goat was suspected of eating it and was killed. There was in that goat, mutilated, but still redeemable, seven $100 bills, four $50 bills, five $20 bills, three $10 bills one $5 bill, and one $2 bill, $1,037 in all.

REST AND WORK.

Where is rest? In what isles of the summer-glad seas?
In what gardens of balm? 'Neath what sleep-drooping trees?
By what still-flowing waters, what lily-fringed streams?
In what meadows of silence, what valleys of dreams?
'Neath what thunderless skies, by what hillsides of sleep?
On what moon-lighted mountain, or star-lighted deep?
Yes, where on the earth's or the ocean's wide breast
Is the home of release and the harbor of rest?

Why, here in the corn field—and take up your hoe!
Right here in this mill—make its wheels onward go!
Right here with your engine—up steam and away!
Right here with your sewing machine every day—
Where there's work, there is rest, and it's nowhere beside.
Though you travel all lands and you sail every tide.
Where is rest? Go to work, and your spirit renew,
For no man can rest who has nothing to do.

"God has arranged it for us," he said, a glad note in his voice. "I have found you without seeking; I have looked into your face without knowing—why—what is it?" The girl had drawn beyond the reach of the arms stretched out towards her and was sadly shaking her head.

"What does it mean?" she said, in fear, her voice trembling. "Why are you here in that uniform?"

"Upon a mission requiring the utmost secrecy, Frances; discovery would cost me my life! I shall explain—"

"A spy! You a spy! Ah, I can believe all the other things now—they told me only the truth!" She began to wring her hands; but, suddenly drawing up her slender figure, she said:

"Capt. Somers, leave these premises at once—and Richmond, or —yes, even I—will give you up to the law." He saw her mistake, but he was as proud.

"You condemn me without a hearing."

"Your uniform, your presence in this city condemn you!"

"No Somers was ever a spy. I have risked my life to help a dying woman," he said, quietly. "I came here to see a man named Raymond Holbin."

"Raymond! What of him?"

"You know him, then?"

"Yes! Yes! He is here—in this house!"

"Take him my message, and we part for all time, Frances; tell him that Louise is dying—tell him to come here to me—"

"Louise! Oh, sir—wait! Will you not tell me who is Louise?"

"A lovable woman whose life has been a failure. It was she who fired the shot that night—not at me who once loved her, but at Holbin, as she thought, the man who had brought her nothing but sorrow."

Amazed and dumb, Frances was regarding him with questioning eyes.

"And the child?" she began, weakly.

"Ah, there is the most pitiable part of it. Holbin has never married Louise." The girl covered her face an instant.

"Forgive me," she said. "I wronged you—my friend."

"You do not say my husband. So let it be."

"I cannot," she answered, in great distress, "when I think of my poor boys dying and dead all around me!—some day when it is all over, perhaps;—but not now, not now! But oh, sir," she exclaimed, looking in terror about her, "come inside, come in; the danger is frightful."

Somers drew himself up and saluted. "Kindly deliver my message. I shall wait here."

"You must not—you shall not! Quick, sir, into my room."

"It is the room of a young girl," he said; "if I am discovered there the life that I lose is nothing compared to her loss!" A struggle was going on in her heart. Her face was white, and a wan smile dwelt upon it.

"It is your wife's room," she said, "and you will be safe there."

He took the hand, touched his lips to it, and suffered her to lead him in.

Above their heads, a woman, hearing every word, leaned out a moment. The upward glare of the swinging lamp lit up her face, savage in its vindictive joy. As Richard Somers entered the room the woman overhead closed the blinds gently. The floor she traversed gave no warning to those below.

CHAPTER XVI.

The woman who leaned from the upper window of the wing of the Brookin residence that June night in 1862 was the ever-cautious mother scanning the outward route chosen for her son, who at that moment was in his room concluding his arrangements for a perilous enterprise.

The time had arrived when Raymond Holbin was to risk his future upon one bold stroke. If he failed, he was no worse off than at the moment, unless, indeed, he should be captured. With the Brookin fortune dissipated by war, Richmond presented but few attractions for him. If he succeeded in all that his busy mind had planned, life held for him Frances, revenge and wealth. The cause for hesitancy lay in the possibility of detention and discovery; for although the papers which he so highly valued were, as he supposed, unintelligible to any mind other than his own, he was a confederate officer, and desertion meant death. He had secured three weeks' leave to go south upon urgent business, but this did not alter his liability. What passed through the mind of this man as he sat in his room that night may be imagined. It may be assumed that he thought of Louise, who with bogus dispatches in her saddle pockets and falsely informed had gone to her death upon that distant road. Holbin had actually ridden nearly to the point with her; had ridden until warned. He had waited when she left him until the fatal volley was fired, and then, terrified, fled home and took refuge in his room. His mother, cool and unflinching, had sought him there, a mute question upon her pale face, and he had roughly, fiercely ordered her away. For, let justice be done him, he had this time in his weakness executed the dictates of a stronger will than his own. He had not intended to be fair with Louise; he had intended to desert her again, and leave her to find her way out of Richmond as best she might, and he did not then intend to return; but the murder was not a part of his plan.

He was unnerved and unfit for the enterprise which now meant so much for him. Arrayed in the worn uniform of a federal prisoner, his papers and pass safe within his beast-pocket, his horse concealed in the garden, Raymond had been on the point of venturing forth when a sergeant reached the house with an official communication requiring an answer. The soldier stood at the front door, and with prompt decision the woman who left the rear window hurried to that point.

"Quick!" she said; "run around to the side gate and come to the wing-room. A Yankee spy is there. Kill him if he attempts to escape. A thousand dollars if you kill or capture him." The soldier ran, cocking his gun as he entered the side gate. The mother went at once to her son's room. She met William, who was bringing an answer to the soldier's letter.

"Yes'm, he's in es room," he said. The light in her son's room shone through the transom. There was no time to explain to Raymond. Knowing his violent and excitable nature, and remembering his disguise, which he might forget if there was an alarm below, she noiselessly turned the key in his door and glided on to her room. But Raymond had left his room immediately after handing William the note, and was already approaching Frances' room below. As he passed the hall entrance, the door leading from the apartment into the garden opened and husband and wife entered. With a cry of amazement he rushed into the room, drawing his sword as he entered.

"Who are you, sir?—why are you in this room?" he asked, angrily. Somers drew his sword instantly and confronted him. Holbin had paused and was staring wildly.

"Richard Somers!"

"Yes!" Somers gently put aside the slender form which instantly interposed between him and the man he had sought. His eyes scanned the familiar uniform of his old enemy in doubt.

"Speak out, sir!"

"Spare your voice, Raymond Holbin. I came with a message for you. Louise is dying in my camp; I was unable to resist her prayer. She implores you to go to her to right her wrongs, for her child's sake. Go, if you are a man, and can; let this marriage take place; do something for the miserable woman whom you have so deceived."

"She was not killed, then!"

"She is dying!" said Somers, shocked and sickened at the matter-of-fact

BLIND, ALMOST, WITH RAGE, SOMERS RUSHED UPON HIS ENEMY.

question. "Did you suppose that she was dead?"

"Yes. She insisted upon trying to run the gantlet." A light dawned upon Somers. A cry of horror escaped him, and all the old enmity for the man came rushing over him again.

"You encouraged her! You knew she was going to her death! You sent her under a false promise—her statement! Frances, Frances, out of this room! God has sent me to avenge Louise. Madman, murderer, we settle many debts to-day." Blind, almost, with his rage, Somers rushed upon his enemy. Their swords clashed as, facing each other, the two men circled about the room. Then Holbin's sword went down. With incredible quickness he avoided the thrust which was almost a part of the disarming blow, rushed to the casement window, leaped into it, and burst open the blinds. His hand thrust in his bosom quickly reached backward; a pistol flashed. At this instant the sergeant rushed into the room, saw the blue uniform escaping through the window, and the extended pistol. He leveled his gun and fired. The man in the window reeled back and plunged headlong into the room.

"It couldn't be helped, captain," said the soldier, lowering his weapon. "Once outside he would have given us a long chase. Did he hit you?" Well might he ask the question. Capt. Somers was deathly pale as he looked upon the body of his foe.

"No," he said, utterly at a loss to understand the situation. Frances, in the moment of the tragedy, reeled against the wall, sick and faint, but the instinct of a woman whose loved one is in danger instantly rallied her to her senses. She was the first to realize the full significance of the soldier's action.

"You have saved our lives," she said, weakly; "any reward you may claim is yours. The man was evidently a spy." Her hospital experience and familiarity with tragedies had served her well. But the strain was fearful, and she covered her eyes again.

Brief as was the respite for Somers, it was sufficient. Passing his arm around her, he urged her out of the room.

"Three minutes — keep everybody out for three minutes, and I am safe," he whispered. White as a ghost, but brave, she took her stand at the foot of the stair and waited.

Somers returned and bent above the figure of his enemy, his mind at work. The reference by Louise to the dispatches, the blue uniform, the horse tied in the yard, the hour, and the character of the man aroused a multitude of suspicions. From the pocket he drew a sealed packet and a folded paper, the latter a pass through the lines. There was no time for an examination of the package; the soldier, leaning upon his gun, was waiting. Promotion for Somers was in sight; but he had entered the room with an avowal that he could not disregard.

"Sergeant," he said, "take this to the war department; it will bring you promotion, I think. The honor is yours."

"But, captain, it was you who really did the work. Were you after him?"

"Yes," said Somers, slowly, "I was looking for the man and had reason to suppose that he was on these premises. I came in to find him. He evidently entered this room in—desperation! Go at once, sergeant, and send an ambulance. What family lives here?" He asked the question in support of his character as a stranger.

"Capt. Holbin's, sir! He is upstairs."

Full of the importance of his secret, the soldier hurried away. Somers passed through the hall and out through the other door into the garden, lifting his hand towards Frances. Steps were approaching the stairway; she passed quickly to the outside and found him waiting.

"They will find him in the uniform of his country's enemy," he said, "and the papers from his pockets will prove him a spy. I am unknown. The soldier will say that a confederate officer pursued the guilty man until he took refuge here, and disappeared." The girl stood mute and silent before him.

"Farewell, Frances," he said.

"Farewell, sir." He looked at her a moment in doubt, and in silence left her. When he glanced back over his shoulder he saw her white form still motionless under the tree. A horse near him whickered inquiringly; he untied him and rode out. As he approached the gate a shriek reached him from the wing-room, and turning he spurred back again. Frances was re-entering the room.

"Wait!" he cried in agony—"Wait!" He threw himself from his horse and was instantly at her side. "Frances, Frances, is it thus we part? Think what it means! Will you not give me one word?" She turned slowly and wearily upon the step.

"There is nothing to say but 'farewell.' If I were a mother, and my son came to me as an enemy of Virginia, I should say the same to him."

"You do not love me, then," he said, bitterly; "love forgets, forgives everything!" She lifted her face, white with an unspeakable suffering.

"Father in Heaven, Thou knowest my heart! Thou knowest how I have atoned to my own people for him; how for him I have ministered to my enemies—Thou knowest, Thou knowest! And now," she said, sobbingly, "my heart breaks—I am weak! Will you not go? A mother is in this room with her dead!"

"To-morrow begins a bloody struggle; and I would wish to carry with me into eternity, if I perish, one kiss from the woman I love—my wife! Will you refuse me that?" She covered her face with her hands; then suddenly she threw her arms about him, her lips to his. He held her a moment, white and silent. Pushing him from her, she turned to enter the house, but sank upon her knees, leaning her head against the door. Bending over, he laid his lips in one long kiss upon her curls, and in silence left her.

CHAPTER XVII.

Richard Somers did not need his pass that morning, nor have to explain why he, if a paroled prisoner, was wearing the uniform of a confederate officer. That uniform was his salvation in his wild ride upon the crowded road, for aides and couriers were rushing to and fro and no one questioned him. Day was breaking as he neared the front, and the tumult of a great battle surrounded him. He passed cavalry, moving infantry and artillery, and was soon swallowed up in the confusion. He had no knowledge of the topography of the country; there was no chance to use a pass in that mass of confused men—he could only move forward with the host. An officer, reining up violently by his side, gave him an order to carry to a struggling line that, half enveloped in its own smoke, reeled back in front of a wooded slope on which some guns were being handled desperately, and on that slight eminence as he approached in a mad gallop he saw at intervals the familiar stars and stripes. He passed the confederate line, at that moment badly broken, its officers riding as madly as he up and down it in an endeavor to rally it, and seeing here his only chance of escape, took it. Burying his heels in the flanks of the terrified animal he bestrode, he headed straight for the battery. He swung back in the saddle as though endeavoring to stop a runaway horse. A little thicket screened him for one instant, and emerging beyond that, he lifted his handkerchief in the air, waved it and with the speed of the wind swept on into the lines of blue. Strong hands seized the bridle; and then a cheer went up from the battery. Col. Somers was with his own again.

Somewhere in the records of the government is told how one battery, the focus of artillery and infantry, held back for hours the tide of battle that day; somewhere are preserved the names of those who fell, and of the few who, at last, with despairing strength dragged back the guns that had not been dismounted, and saved them from capture; but no official record preserves the picture of a wrecked and half demolished cottage by the roadside, the body of a frail child dead in the arms of a dead woman visible through the shattered timbers. The picture lives to-day only in the memory of a soldier, who, standing before it a moment under the bursting shells of that June morning, covered his eyes and murmured a prayer.

To this same place in the after years came one day in June a man and woman who tenderly laid flowers upon a grave beneath the one cedar which had escaped the battle's wrath. A slender shaft of marble stood above the grave, and upon it was carved the name of the dead woman who slept beneath. By the grave a rose-vine was growing. Its upward branches clung to the tree and let fall long streamers of white blossoms, peace banners, in the breeze.

"I planted it here when I gave the place to the boy who brought you through the lines to me that night, Dick. It is a Lamarque, too. I wanted her to share the white rose with me—to sleep peacefully under it always. For somehow, Dick, I have always felt that once you loved her, and that you loved me at first because she had taught you how to love." She lifted her blue-gray eyes and rested them upon the manly face of her companion; a tender light was gleaming in their misty depths. "And I am glad, my husband, that her brief life was blessed even for a little while with the worship of a brave gentleman's heart." He drew her towards him, and her face grew radiant against his breast.

"God bless them both, mother and child!" he said, gently; "and God bless you, Frances, my wife!'

THE END.

A PROFLIGATE KING.

Milan of Servia Was a Bad Man, a Bad Father and an Abominable Husband.

Few even of the wisest precepts bear universal application, and that de mortuis would debar some of the defunct from any sort of recognition. The best we can say of King Milan of Servia is that the rascal possessed a persuasive tongue, says the London Saturday Review. One day when a mob was howling for his blood outside the Konak at Belgrade, he came out upon the balcony amid a pandemonium of groans, but before the lapse of many minutes all were listening to his language with rapt attention, and soon his peroration was the signal for wild applause. He was a bad king, a bad man, a bad father, and an abominable husband, and we can only plead for him that an evil nature and a shameful education were accentuated by the blackest misfortune. To the innermost recesses of his soul—if indeed such a being could claim a soul—he was a gambler, and he staked his throne, his reputation, and the regard of his friends as lightly as the hard-earned dinars extorted from a long-suffering peasantry. The demon of ill-fortune pursued him everywhere, as it has the habit of pursuing unskillful players. Yet never surely did any man receive greater indulgence or deserve it less. Defeated by the Turks, he was rewarded by his people with kingship and by Europe with a province; exhibiting gross cowardice at Slivnitsa, he retained the devotion and confidence of his army; outraging his saintly queen with physical cruelties and open insults, he found her ever ready to forgive; bought off again and again by an impoverished exchequer, he could always count upon the charity of the subjects he had betrayed.

Smart Lunatic.

Although this anecdote from Short Stories is so good as to suggest the hard writing which makes easy reading, we all know that for unexpected and splendid intervals of lucidity the unbalanced mind cannot be surpassed.

Horace Mann, the famous educator, was sitting one evening in his study when an insane man rushed into the room and challenged him to fight.

"My dear fellow," replied Mr. Mann, "it would give me great pleasure to accommodate you, but I can't do it, the odds are so unfair. I am a Mann by name and a man by nature, two against one! It would never do to fight."

"Oh, come ahead!" the insane man answered. "I am a man and a man beside myself. Let us four have a fight."

Called to Preach.

The old negro was working in the cotton field one hot day in July. Suddenly he stopped and looking toward the sky, he exclaimed:

"O Lawd, de cotton am so grassy, de wuk am so hard, an' de sun am so hot, dat I b'lieve dis darky am called to preach!"—Booker T. Washington, in Outlook.

CARDINALS AT ROME.

Have Singular Privileges and Rules for Their Conduct.

Always Dress in Red and Etiquette Does Not Allow Them to Walk—The Sacred College and How It Is Constituted.

While in Rome etiquette does not allow a cardinal to walk. He must have a carriage and pair. When he goes out beyond the city walls an attendant follows him. Going to a public ceremony at the Vatican he is entitled to a gala train of three carriages, and if a prince to four.

In the pope's chapel the cardinals kneel at the benches on which they sit. They wear at ceremonial functions a cassock with a train of cloth in winter and of moire in summer. Collars, shoes and stockings are red. The girdle is of red moire with gold tassels, the rochet of lace and the mozetta the same as the cassock. In Rome the rochet is covered with a red mantelletta; outside the city it is uncovered. The hat is red felt with gold tassels.

The cardinals di curia, or those residing in Rome, are entitled to a yearly income, or piatto cardinalizio of 32,000 lire—about $6,400—which is paid out of the ePter's pence. The cardinal dwelling ordinarily has these special apartments: At the entrance is an antechamber for the domestics. Above a credence are the arms of the cardinal under a canopy. On the wall are suspended his two kneeling cushions, one of red and the other of violet silk, and his two umbrellas of the same colors. These last are for covering him when he is making a solemn entry into a church or following the viaticum bareheaded. The second room is for the cardinal's secretary. The third is called the antechamber of the biretta, because the red biretta is placed there on a console before a crucifix. Then comes the throneroom.

When a cardinal asserts that the pope has said this or that, or has given such an order, he must be believed on his word without being obliged to prove it. This is called the oruculum rivae vocis.

Cardinals should be 30 years of age. Mgr. Martinelli will be one of the youngest members of the college. He is now 53. Cardinal Skebensky, archbishop of Prague, is the youngest, being only 38. Cardinal Yives y Tuto comes next. He is 47. Then Mgr. Martinelli fits in, says the Baltimore Sun.

When the sacred college is complete there are 70 cardinals, namely six bishops, 50 priests and 14 deacons. Cardinals of a lower order have, with the consent of the pope, the right of option to pass to a higher order. The deacons can chose the vacant places of the cardinal priests if they have been deacons for ten years, and have been ordained to the priesthood. The senior cardinal priest present in Rome when one of the six bishoprics falls vacant has the option to succeed to it, with the exception of the sees of Ostia and of Porto, which are reserved for the dean and the subdean of the sacred college. The dean is the senior cardinal, dating from his promotion to one of the sees.

There are now 67 cardinals—40 Italians and 27 of other nationalities. It is said that Pope Leo XIII. desires always to have the membership near the plenum, or limit, and that he said just before making out the recent list of 12 new cardinals:

"Better that there should be as many as possible to choose from in the next conclave." Pope Pius IX., having had the longest reign, created the most cardinals, 179; Pope Leo XIII. has buried 136 cardinals since he began his pontificate.

Besides Cardinal Martinelli seven other cardinals have had to do with the church of North America. They are Cardinal Cheverus, the first bishop of Boston; Cardinal McCloskey, archbishop of New York; Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore; Cardinal Taschereau, of Quebec; Cardinal Perisco, bishop of Savannah; Cardinal Mazzella, the Jesuit theologian and professor at the college at Woodstock, Md., and Cardinal Satolli, former delegate to the United States. Of these cardinals Cheverus, Perisco and Mazzella had left this country before they were created cardinals.

Rebuke to Stingy Employers.

Judge Danforth, of Maine, believes that a fair salary tends to keep a man honest. Lately, in speaking of a convicted bank cashier, he said: "I wish that the law permitted me to send with the accused every one of the bank directors who, through a long term of years, expected you to do your work, live respectably, bring up a large family and be honest—all on a salary of $600 a year."

FUNSTON TO RESIGN.

Man Who Captured Aguinaldo Will Quit the Army for Profitable Commercial Work.

Army officers returning from the Philippines report that Gen. Fred Funston expects to tender his resignation as brigadier general in the regular establishment and engage in private business. He is quoted as having said as soon as all active military operations in the islands cease he will give up his place in the army and will represent a large commercial concern which has made him a handsome offer for his services. His resignation is expected to be forthcoming before October. The report that the Kansan would resign was thoroughly discussed by officers at the war department, and while no one seemed to have any direct information concerning his intentions the statement that he would leave the army was generally accepted as true. People in Washington who know Funston say that he is not by nature adapted to the routine of a military part in times of peace and that his spirit of daring and enterprise will lead him into other fields.

Officers who have returned within the past few days said he did not expect the promotion that resulted from his capture of Aguinaldo and that when he was shown the cablegram from the war department announcing his appointment as a brigadier general he expressed astonishment that his exploit should have led the president to accord him such recognition. At that time, it is said, he was making arrangements to get out of the army, his intention then being to accept a proposition of a large business concern to represent it in the Philippines. The promotion for the time being, of course, diverted his attention from such plans. The offer is said to have been renewed since, and as it would bring him a much larger salary than that of brigadier it is understood he has almost decided to accept it.

BRAVE CAVALRY HORSE.

Its Memory Has Just Been Perpetuated by the Erection of a Monument in Ohio.

Survivors of the Twelfth Ohio cavalry have unveiled a monument erected over the grave of "Frank," a veteran war horse connected with that regiment during the rebellion.

Frank was a thoroughbred Kentucky colt, five years old when he entered the service 36 years ago. Fleet of foot, strong of limb, and with the splendid endurance of the true thoroughbred, he soon earned for his rider, Abe Conger, of company A, the distinction of being frequently detailed for special service. Several extraordinary marches of over 80 miles a day are placed to his credit, but the event which most endeared him to the hearts of the troop was his being a participant in the capture of Jefferson Davis.

During the term of his service he acquired a wonderful veneration for his country's flag and many are the pathetic stories told in this connection. It is the special pride of Capt. Harter to relate that one day when a flag was being raised at a schoolhouse near the field in which Frank was grazing he jumped the fence as soon as he saw it and stood beneath its waving folds until it was removed at night.

The monument, which is on Capt. Harter's farm at Upper Sandusky, is a single bowlder, extremely hard and red and gray in color, with sharply cut facets which sparkle and glisten in the sunlight as it beams upon the spot which will long be venerated in honor of one of man's best friends and an influential factor in the making of history.

YOUNG GIRLS OF COREA.

Their Education Consists of the Ordinary Domestic Accomplishments and Nothing Else.

Marriage does not bring happiness to girls in Corea any more than to those in other parts of the far east. When young a girl is allowed a freedom which is denied her later, and it is not till she attains the dignity of being a mother-in-law that she begins to enjoy life again.

The daughter of a Corean house is of little consequence, while a son is of great importance, and his advent into the family circle is always welcomed with joy. When very young the boys and girls play together, but when they reach the age of eight or ten a great distinction is made. In the families of wealth, where none of the women of the family are obliged to do any of the housework or toil in the fields, the daughters are secluded in the part of the house reserved for the women, into which no men are allowed to enter. Their brothers dwell in the men's apartments, where they are free to do what they please.

Education in Corea is provided to a certain extent for the boys and young men, but it is almost an unheard-of thing for a girl to be allowed to learn anything outside of the purely domestic accomplishments. The girl is a mere chattel; she is not even considered a unit of society. As an illustration of how far this idea is carried it is interesting to note that the girl has literally no name. When she is a mere child a surname is given to her for convenience, but when she marries she gives it up and merges her identity in that of her husband. Her parents call her by the ward or district in which she contracted her marriage; her parents-in-law call her by the name of the village from which she has come. Later on, when she has children, she is named the "Mother of So and So."

It is safe to say that the small Corean girl does not appreciate the blessings of her childhood until she grows up. That many of them are capable of a much broader existence has been proved by some women missionaries in southern Corea who have made experiments in their education. They built a bungalow in the midst of the old city of Fusan, and lived right among the people, learning to know them in their homes. It was not long before their attention was attracted to the pitiful case of a little orphan girl, and they decided to take her in and care for her. Soon they heard of others, and the little band increased until it numbered seven or eight. They hired native teachers, both men and women, the latter giving the children lessons in sewing, cooking, and all the other branches of industry with which Corean custom demanded that they should be familiar, and the former teaching reading and writing in both Corean and Chinese.

This was a great innovation, and the result of it was watched with great interest. The little girls proved themselves quite unhandicapped by the suppression which their sex had undergone for centuries, and learned with greater facility than the small boys. They developed many lovable traits of character, the most distinctive of which was their thoughtfulness of each other.

In Corea there is a special dress for every particular occasion, and the little girls who correspond to our bridesmaids are clothed in a way fearful and wonderful to behold; but their everyday dress is simple and hygienic enough to meet with the approval of the most ardent dress reformer. In appearance the girls and women of Corea are often attractive. Their black hair grows very thick, their eyes are bright and intelligent, and their rather swarthy cheeks are tinged with a color which may be artificial, but is often the sign of robust health. —N. Y. Tribune.

Cow Was a Snake Eater.

John Moore, of Philomath, southeast of Dublin, Ind., lost a fine Jersey cow in a rather peculiar manner. For some reason the cow seemed to crave drink, and finally died. Moore was determined to know what the cow died from, so he cut her open. When he did so a big black snake, six feet in length, crawled from the stomach. He killed it with a club. The snake was probably taken into the cow's stomach several years ago, and has since lived to grow to its full size. The cow had given its usual quantity of milk until she became sick.

MODEL CHINA CLOSET.

Some Excellent Suggestions for the Safe-Keeping of Cut Glass and Dainty Porcelains.

The china-closet in many houses is built into the wall. This disposes of location. Home-makers have to accept the goods and the ills the landlords provide, but wherever located it is imperative to have good shelves and plenty of them. Very many built-in closets have shelves much too far apart. But it is sometimes possible to make the high shelves answer by putting screw hooks all over the undersides and hanging there cups and mugs, little pitchers, etc. Hang the saucers against the wall back of the cups by means of flat wire china racks. There may be a double or even a treble row of the racks. In filling them study colors as much as possible. With saucers of various sizes put the biggest at the bottom, unless such placing ruins the closet color-scheme.

Well arranged, and full of handsome wares, a china-closet is among the best ornaments of a dining-room. Tint the walls to match the general tone of the room, or else cover them with a very thin, hardwood veneer, accurately fitted and tacked in place with the smallest-sized brads. Varnish the veneer, and keep clean by weekly wiping with a soft cloth wrung very dry out of tepid water.

Leave the shelf surfaces plain and cover them with linen, cut to fit, and ornament with a line of drawn work. Heavy butchers' linen is best, though the soft-toned art linens may be effectively used. Set one shelf apart for glasses, preferably the upper one. Cut the linen for it twice the shelf width, hem it all around, then double it. Thus there is a light pad all over the shelf. It can be kept as fresh as the single covers, and will safeguard glass.

With a crowded glass shelf, put down small pieces first, inverting them, then turn bigger pieces over them, taking care that they do not touch. But before risking a big bowl thus upon its own margin, it is well to test it, and see if it presses equally all around. The slightest inequality may mean destruction.

Pressed glass and colored glass may be piled together with comparative impunity. But if when the pile is jarred any piece in it gives out a harsh rattle, it is wise to recast it. The rattle portends breakage, since it shows that something presses unevenly. Slender-stemmed wine glasses look pretty tied in clusters of three, the stems crossing and suspended by bright ribbons from screw hooks in the top. They need not hang low enough to menace other things. Claret jugs can be likewise hung, and other flat things may go in racks across the back. In that case the back needs a padded linen, like the shelf proper. Test hanging things by setting them swinging, so as to make certain they will not strike anything else.

Keep plates carefully sorted, and piled size and pattern together. Give big platters room upon the lowermost shelf. If it is not properly grooved, tack strips of lath along it, and cut the linen for it wide enough to go in and out. Stand the platters on edge, the biggest next the wall, graduating them toward the front. With a very high shelf space they look prettier on end, the highest in the middle, and getting lower toward the ends. Handsome covered dishes are best set in a row in front of the flat ones. Use judgment and an eye for color in all placings. A small, clear yellow bit against a background of dull blue illumines everything around it.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

BITS AND PATCHES.

Every Human Being Is a Piece of Patchwork, Made Up of What Is Gotten from Others.

"Folks are 'most all guidebooks or red lanterns if they ain't anything else to speak of—examples or warnings, I mean—though generally they don't know it either way," said Aunt Betty. "There's plenty of folks would be surprised if they knew how much I'd got from 'em when they didn't think they was giving me anything.

"And it's a good deal that way with what we are and how we do things. There's a streak of patience learned from some one who never knew we watched him and here's a bit of selfishness knocked off because we couldn't help seeing how hateful it was in somebody else. We're braver many a day on account of some one who didn't know any human eye took notice of how she tried to be courageous, and we have many a distrustful hour, maybe, because somebody else boosted their unbelief. Yes, we've got a good deal of a patchwork, made up of what we get from others; but then we give as well as get, and sometimes I wonder what kind of bits I'm furnishing."—Wellspring.

BELGIAN HARE HUTCH.

Colorado Fancier Describes One That Is Warmly Recommended by Other Breeders.

The Belgian hare fad is slowly abating, no doubt, and yet I find that people take a good deal of interest in these animals. One of our inquirers seems to have the same trouble that I had met; namely, that the young die off from some unrecognized cause. The boomers in this business usually claim that Belgian hares are exempt from disease. I have lost a good many, and have been unable to say from what cause or disease. Others who have had the same experience tell me that they have had better luck since adopting the practice of putting a drop of hydrachloric acid into one quart or so of the water given to the hares to drink. Another reader, Thomas Edwards, of Colorado, gives me a plan of a rabbit-hutch which strikes me as excellent and tempts me to build one exactly like it. The construction is shown in accompanying illustrations. My correspondent describes it as follows: "The building should have the floor at least two inches off the ground, and banked up as much as possible all around, for warmth. Nest-boxes for breeding does should have partition in for nest. Partitions between pens should be of wood, as some hares will fight through wire and they will not do well. Nest-boxes should have the lid hung with hinges, so that the dirt can be removed and the boxes opened."

In regard to the management Mr. Edwards says: "I feed once a day corn-chop, and alfalfa green when I can get it, and when I cannot, alfalfa-hay leaves. I do not change the food at any time, and I have as fine hares as anyone around here. I give plenty of fresh water and keep them supplied with salt. Climate has a great deal to do with the successful raising of Belgian hares. They require a very dry and fairly warm place, well protected from cold winds and shaded from the hot sunshine. The reason I feed my hares the way I do is that corn is fattening, and I find they grow better on it than on oats or wheat. Rabbits naturally are all muscle. They require some green food the year round, but not to excess, as it will cause bowel complaint; neither can they live on all dry food, as they cannot digest it. They require fresh water, and, above all, they must be kept absolutely dry; the least dampness will kill them off quickly. Keep each breeding doe separate and handle as little as possible. Do not breed a doe again until you can take the young from her. You will get better young ones and keep the doe in better condition. If hutches are kept clean you will find the hares will also be clean and more healthy. — T. Greiner, in Farm and Fireside.

Do Not Pen the Turkeys.

"I do not wonder that there are so many failures made in preparing turkeys in the market when we take into consideration the course so many breeders take in fattening their birds," says George Wolf, in Farm Poultry. "I have frequently seen flocks of turkeys penned up in a building for the purpose of fattening for market, and it was a failure every time. This is no more than should be expected, for turkeys are of a wild nature, and as soon as they are cooped they begin quarreling, chasing one another about and constantly worrying for freedom. They soon tire of their food, grow thin, and will, when killing time comes, weigh less than when first cooped with the expectation of fattening them."

Big Loss in Bleached Hay.

When a piece of cotton or linen is to be bleached it is laid on the grass sprinkled with water or allowed to get wet with dew, and then exposure to the sun does the rest. The effect produced on the fabric by this process is duplicated with hay when it is allowed to be alternately wet with dew or rain and shone upon for any length of time by the hot sun. It is true that this cannot be avoided at all times, but every possible effort should be made to avoid it, for bleached out hay is so inferior that it is a pity to devote labor to its handling, and it is not profitable to compel stock to subsist on it during the winter.—Farm, Stock and Home.

KEEPING UP FERTILITY.

First Thing Necessary Is the Saving and Proper Application of All Sorts of Manure.

A correspondent of the St. Louis Journal of Agriculture writes that paper as follows:

The first thing in keeping up fertility is the saving and proper application of manure. Thousands of farmers are letting the manure waste in their barnyards, and are using commercial fertilizers. Fertility can be kept up in this way, but a lack of humus will soon follow. Soil deficient in humus will dry out in dry weather and a seeding of clover will be next to impossible. Do not flatter yourselves with the idea that you can keep up your fertility on commercial manures alone. You must save and use all your farm manure. Spread the manure on the higher portion of the field. Save everything. Do not let a thing go to waste, but put it on the land. It makes little difference when you put it on, only see that it goes on.

Plow under all the clover you can. Rye will do to plow under very well. Any green crop will answer. Do not let the ground lie bare during fall and winter. Sow your corn stubble to rye. This can be done at the last cultivation. It will not only save fertility by the roots taking up fertility and storing it in the plant, so as to be available for the next crop to follow, but it will make excellent pasture for your sheep and hogs during the fall and far into the winter.

Do not hesitate to draw the manure as fast as made during the winter, and spread as fast as drawn. If your land is too hilly this may not be the best plan provided you have a good way to save the manure at the barn. But as the manure is usually kept around barns, the loss from washing down the hills will be no greater than the loss around the barns. Manure drawn out in winter saves that much from the spring's work. Often in the spring the ground is soft, and I have seen ground injured as much by the trampling and cutting up by the wheels as the manure did good.

A wise rotation of crops is also necessary in keeping up fertility. No rotation should be longer than four years. Three years will be better. But a four-year rotation will do very well provided clover is given an important place.

STERILITY OF EGGS.

It Is Caused Quite Often by Feeding Too Great a Portion of Fat-Forming Foods.

The lack of fertility of eggs is frequently laid to the activity or inactivity of the males. Doubtless, it is frequently due to the females. From analogy, drawing the lesson from other animals, the feed has a great deal to do with the question of fertility. Science has not yet found out just how the elements in food, the potash, the phosphorus and the nitrogen affect the life germs, but we know they do affect them. With the present amount of light shining on the subject we would perhaps attach more importance to the presence and distribution of phosphorus than of any other element. It is as yet a subject shrouded in darkness. There is a difference, too, in the manner in which one hen disposes of her feed compared with another. Two hens may eat food containing phosphorus. One may distribute it throughout her system. The other may pass most of it with the droppings. We know that of two hens similarly fed and treated, one will produce fertile and the other unfertile eggs, the latter through no fault of the cock. This quality of producing non-fertile eggs is one that is transmitted, and can probably be largely eliminated by careful selection. The process would, however, be a long one, and is not likely to be taken up by any person, except one having a considerable capital; as it would mean the sequestering of each individual being watched. Sometimes perhaps a change of food will remove the sterility. We know that when a hen gets too fat she becomes sterile, and in that case the trouble is due to the feeding of too great a proportion of fat-forming foods.—Farmers' Review.

A JUDGE'S WIFE

CURED OF PELVIC CATARRH.

She Suffered for Years and Felt Her Case Was Hopeless---Cured by Pe-ru-na.

MRS. JUDGE MCALLISTER.

Mrs. Judge McAllister writes from 1217 West 33rd st., Minneapolis, Minn., as follows:

"I suffered for years with a pain in the small of my back and right side. It interfered often with my domestic and social duties and I never supposed that I would be cured, as the doctor's medicine did not seem to help me any.

"Fortunately a member of our Order advised me to try Peruna and gave it such high praise that I decided to try it. Although I started in with little faith, I felt so much better in a week that I felt encouraged.

"I took it faithfully for seven weeks and am happy indeed to be able to say that I am entirely cured. Words fail to express my gratitude. Perfect health once more is the best thing I could wish for, and thanks to Peruna I enjoy that now."—Minnie E. McAllister.

The great popularity of Peruna as a catarrh remedy has tempted many people to imitate Peruna. A great many so-called catarrh remedies and catarrhal tonics are to be found in many drug stores. These remedies can be procured by the druggist much cheaper than Peruna. Peruna can only be obtained at a uniform price, and no druggist can get it a cent cheaper.

Thus it is that druggists are tempted to substitute the cheap imitations of Peruna for Peruna. It is done every day without a doubt.

We would therefore caution all people against accepting these substitutes. Insist upon having Peruna. There is no other internal remedy for catarrh that will take the place of Peruna. Allow no one to persuade you to the contrary.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Prevent Baldness

And Cleanse the Scalp of Crusts, Scales, and Dandruff by Shampoos with

Cuticura SOAP

And light dressings with CUTICURA, purest of emollients and greatest of skin cures. This treatment at once stops falling hair, removes crusts, scales, and dandruff, soothes irritated, itching surfaces, stimulates the hair follicles, supplies the roots with energy and nourishment, and makes the hair grow upon a sweet, wholesome, healthy scalp when all else fails.

Millions of Women

USE CUTICURA SOAP, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, the great skin cure, for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales and dandruff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitening, and soothing red, rough, and sore hands, for baby rashes, itchings, and chafings, in the form of baths for annoying irritations and inflammations, or too free or offensive perspiration, in the form of washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and many sanative, antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women and mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used these great skin purifiers and beautifiers to use any others. CUTICURA SOAP combines in ONE SOAP at ONE PRICE, the BEST skin and complexion soap, the BEST toilet and baby soap in the world.

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humour.

Cuticura THE SET Consisting of CUTICURA SOAP, to cleanse the skin of crusts and scales and soften the thickened cuticle, CUTICURA OINTMENT, to instantly allay itching, inflammation, and irritation, and soothe and heal, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, to cool and cleanse the blood. A SINGLE SET is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring, and humiliating skin, scalp, and blood humours, with loss of hair, when all else fails. Sold throughout the world. 4 US AFTERBATH

It makes the skin white and soft, removes pimples and dandruff and all eruptions from the person.

For the Head and Hair and Body.

The body and limbs of every child should be rubbed with 4 Us after every bath. Just enough dropped in the palm of the hand to rub over every part of the surface of a child, once a day will keep the skin soft and white, the pores free from getting clogged with impurity passing out from the system. A teaspoon full is sufficient to moisten the cuticle (skin covering) of a grown person. The effect is wonderful: pimples on the body and face are entirely removed by a few applications of the 4 Us. Druggists sell it.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED.

At Panama, Columb'a, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diahrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter, a prominent physician, of Panama, Columbia, in a recent letter states: "Last march I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by L. Taggart.

The after-dinner speaking mania at medical banquets is at its height. What a pity it is that men who have nothing to say, and who do not wish to say it, are compelled to say it to men who do not wish to hear it.—American Medicine.

A Cure for Cholera Infantum.

"Last May," says Mrs. Curtis Baker, of Bookwalter, Ohio, "an infant child of our neighbor's was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good it used according to directions. In two days' time the child had fully recovered, and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous healthy girl. I have recommended this Remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance." For sale by L. Taggart.

That the best way to throw dice is to throw them away and quit gambling.

Nerves Like a Flat-Iron.

A woman who suffered for three years from nervous prostration says, two bottles of Lichty's Celery Nerve Compound effected a complete cure. She hardly knows today whether she has nerves or not, as she never feels them. It is certainly a wonderful remedy. Sold by L. Taggart.

A girl's best friend will tell you more to the girl's disadvantage in a minute than you can learn from her avowed enemy in a week.

The laws of health require that the bowels move once each day and one of the penalties for violating this law is piles. Keep your bowels regular by taking a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets when necessary and you will never have that severe punishment inflicted upon you. Price, 25 cents. For sale by L. Taggart.

What most people want is something mild and gentle, when in need of a physic. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets fill the bill to a dot. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. For sale by L. Taggart.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has a world wide reputation for its cures. It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by L. Taggart.

An old bachelor says the only thing necessary to enable a man to win a woman's love is an opportunity.

A. J. Cottingham went to Washington County, Ark., to see his sister and while there was taken with flux (dysentery) and was very bad off. He decided to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was so much pleased with the prompt cure which it effected, that he wrote the manufacturers a letter in praise of their medicine. Mr. Cottingham resides at Lockland, Ark. This remedy is for sale by L. Taggart.

A Good Thing.

German Syrup is the special prescription of Dr. A. Boschcee, a celebrated German Physician, and is acknowledged to be one of the most fortunate discoveries in Medicine. It quickly cures Coughs, Colds and all Lung troubles of the severest nature, removing, as it does, the cause of the affection and leaving the parts in a strong and healthy condition. It is not an experimental medicine, but has stood the test of years, giving satisfaction in every case, which its rapidly increasing sale every season confirms. Two million bottles sold annually. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States in 1868, and is now sold in every town and village in the civilized world. Three doses will relieve any ordinary cough. Price 75 cts. The honest blacksmith is seldom inclined to give up his vise.

If the action of your bowels is not easy and regular serious complications must be the final results. DeWitt's Little Early Risers will remove this danger. Safe, pleasant and effective. R.C. Dodson.

Ambition has prevented many a man from making a success of small things.

James White, Bryantsville, Ind., says DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve healed running sores on both legs. He had suffered 6 years. Doctors failed to help him. Get DeWitt's. Accept no imitations. R. C. Dodson.

The tree that bears the most fruit to market is said to be the axle-tree.

Extreme hot weather is a great tax upon the digestive power of babies; when puny and feeble they should be given a dose of WHITE,S CREAM VERMIFUGUE. Price, 25 cents. L. Taggart.

It's an easy matter for a married man to get next to the latest word in use.

Eruptions, cuts, burns, scalds and sores of all kinds quickly healed by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Certtain cure for piles. Beware of counterfeits. Be sure you get the original—DeWitt's. R. C. Dodson.

The use of the mosquito is to show us that troubles are not always in proportion to their size.

For mosquito bites, bites or stings of insects, animals or reptiles, apply BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. It counteracts the poison in the wound, subdues the inflammation and heals the flesh. Price, 25 and 50 cents. L. Taggart.

If one man tells a woman she is beautiful all the rest of the world can't convince her that she is homely.

Mrs. S. H. Allport, Johnstown, Pa., says: "Our little girl almost strangled to death with croup. The doctors said she couldn't live but she was instantly relieved by One Minute Cough Cure. R. C. Dodson.

A man may not object to being called a bull or a bear, but call him a calf or a cub and he is apt to declare war.

Plump cheeks, flushed with the soft glow of health, and a pure complexion makes all women beautiful. HERBINE imparts strength and vitality to the system, and the rosy hue of health to the cheeks. Price, 50 cents. L. Taggart.

That you never find people out until you call on them with a bill.

In cases of cough or croup give the little one One Minute Cough Cure. Then rest easy and have no fear. The child will be all right in a little while. It never fails. Pleasant to take always safe, sure and almost instantaneous in effect. R. C. Dodson.

Some juries lose a lot of time in trying to find a verdict.

Constipation, impaired digestion and a torpid liver, are the most common ailments that are responsible for that tired, listless, tagged-out feeling that makes the summer a dreaded period to so many people. HERBINE will cure constipation, it improves the digestion and arouses the liver to normal activity. Price, 50 cents. L. Taggart.

"Beware," said the potter to the clay, and a little later it was ware.

P. T. Thomas, Sumterville, Ala., "I was suffering from dyspepsia when I commenced taking Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I took several bottles and can digest anything." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the only preparation containing all the natural digestive fluids. It gives weak stomachs entire rest, restoring their natural condition. R. C. Dodson.

That the man in the moon has two "full" innings this month.

Piles are not only in, and of themselves very painful and annoying, but often greatly aggravate and even cause other grave and painful affiictions, and should, therefore not be neglected. TABLER'S BUCKEYE PILE OINTMENT is a great boon to sufferers as it will cure them. Price, 50 cents in bottles. Tubes, 75 cents.—L. Taggart.

That many a fellow with a sunny smile a sunny reputution.

Don't be satisfied with temporary relief from indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure permanently and completely removes this complaint. It relieves permanently because it allows the tired stomach perfect rest. Dieting won't rest the stomach. Nature receives supplies from the food we eat. The sensible way to help the stomach is to use Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which digests what you eat and can't help but do you good. R. C. Dodson.
